E RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

S DISCUSSION IN THE CABINET.

litary Commanders Have no Power to Remove State Officials.

ospect of an Extra Session of Congress.

tion of Virginia Immigration Convention.

cial Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 14, 1867.

The Reconstruction Act.

The Cabinet to-day had another session ich was almost wholly occupied with the dission of the various questions arising under reconstruction act. There is nothing to be led, as far as can be ascertained, to the well own fact that the Cabinet is almost unanius in concurring with the Attorney General- t commanders have no power to remove ll officials of the Southern States. Mr. nberry, however, says he has been misunstood wherever he has been represented as ng of the opinion that State officials can removed by trial by Military Commission charges that they are obstructing the encement of the reconstruction act. What he lds is that any person acting in his judicial pacity can be so tried, no matter what poion he may occupy. But he does not recoge the right to try a State officer even by the litary for the mere purpose of getg rid of him. The distinction ms to be made between State officials and citizen, and the Attorney General is entid to this explanation, inasmuch as previous patches may have conveyed a stronger imssion regarding his views, of the powers of litary commissions under the restoration law. e full opinion is expected daily, and it is impssible to state what course the President may te.

Extra Session of Congress.

The President has certainly not yet decided at he will do with the displaced Southern icials. The views which he advanced last ght to certain gentlemen that he might call ngress together to pass an act to reconcile at he regards as differences under the present law, is looked upon by many as postponing e whole question until after the time for the eting in July. There need be no doubt of e fact telegraphed last night that he is serisly considering the propriety of convening ngress.

Virginia and Immigration.

At the Immigration Convention in the neighring city of Alexandria, composed of farm-, land owners and capitalists, in Alexandria, ., there was a unanimous expression of inion that the great need of Virginia is that e land should be divided into smaller farms an those in which they are now held, in order promote the settlement among them of al owners of the soil, who will thus have a rect interest in the future welfare and prosrity of the States. Resolutions were adopted urge upon the land owners of Virginia the vantages to themselves and to the State of bdividing their lands into tracts of such size will meet the demands of the market, to gather formation of the location, soil and charter of the lands so offered for le, and the prices of the same, and also to tablish agencies in the leading cities of the nited States and in foreign countries where it ay be deemed necessary; also for the organition of the Virginia Land Company, with thority to receive subscriptions of land at irly estimated values and to hold and dispose the land so subscribed.

The Surratt Trial.

The first week of the Surratt trial closes toorrow with about one-third of the jury obtain- . Judge Fisher was too ill to preside to-day, d unless he recovers by Monday this term of e Court ends, and all of the proceedings of e week will go for naught. The new term mmences Monday, and the Judge of the Sueme Court, Chief Justice Cartter, is not here hold it. It now looks as if the trial, owing the law regulation of the Court, may be postned for some time. Judge Fisher is confined his room, but may recover by Monday.

The Marine Corps.

The Marine Corps is not up to its maximum mber, 3,600, but is nearly so, notwithstandg no extra inducements are being made to secruits. The personnel of the corps ithin three or four years past has improved nsiderably, a much better class of men havg enlisted in that time than in former years. few days ago a couple of colored men apared at the barracks here, and offered to enst but were rejected, at which they seemed uch disappointed.

Who He is.

Colonel Nagle, recently arrested in Ireland r Fenianism, is the same person who was in is city during the Fenian excitement, acting s Inspector General of the Fenian Brotherood in this district.

Clerks to be Discharged.

From seventy-five to one hundred clerks are o be discharged from the Quartermaster and reasury Department. In the former no appropriation is made, and in the latter the work falling off.

WASHINGTON, June 14, 1867.

THE SURRATT CASE.

In the Surratt case to-day, Judge Wylie on he bench, Judge Fisher being sick, the names f talesmen ordered yesterday were called. hirty-eight offered no excuses; quite a number vere excused, and several held for action by udge Fisher. No new jurymen were selected. he court adjourned till to-morrow.

THE CONSCIENCE FUND.

The conscience fund of the Treasury Departnent, was increased to-day by $100 from St. ouis.

MINISTER RESIDENT.

Mr. A. Mascol was, to-day, presented to the President, as Minister Resident of the Netherands, during the absence of Mr. Delimburg.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

A letter from P. E. Conger, agent of the Yankton Indians, dated June 5th, says: There is a great deal of trouble here with Indians. Fort Randall, opposite my agency, was attackyesterday, and one man shot and thirty-seven horses taken by hostile Indians. All the white men at my agency are on guard. We have no soldiers.

THE ARMY.

Surgeon P. G. Ten Broeck has been relieved from duty in the Department of California, and ordered to report to the Surgeon General. Assistant Surgeon J. F. Lauderdale is ordered to report to California.

INTERRUPTION OF MAILS.

The Postoffice Department to-day received the following:

OFFICE OF WELLS, FARGO & CO., STAGE DEP'T, NORTH PLATTE, Nebraska, June 8, 1867.

Hon. Geo. W. McLelland, Second Assistant Postmaster, Washington:

DEAR SIR:—I this day, by request of W., F. & Co., forward you one box of mutilated letters and mail bags. You will observe a portion of the former are saturated with the blood of one of our drivers and a passenger, who were murdered by the Indians while on the coach from Denver to this point. Passengers and mails are accumulating here to a large extent. To-morrow we start in company, three coaches with passengers and mails, accompanied by a guard of our own employees, who we expect will be compelled to fight their way through. I am, sir, very respectfully, yours.

HENRY MORROW, Agent.

THE RAM STONEWALL.

Recently purchased for the Emperor of Japan, is now being fitted out, workmen being engaged on her, and it is expected will leave about the middle of August.

OF JURIES.

According to law and the opinion of Judge Fisher, when a jury has been empanelled, and a cause commenced, the trial continues until finished, notwithstanding the intervention of a new term. Only three jurors have been sworn in the Surratt case, and the prospect is not promising that a jury will be procured tomorrow. If not, the proceedings thus far, it is thought by lawyers, will amount to nothing practically, as the June term of the criminal court will begin Monday, and the case will have to be commenced anew.

Fenian Trials.

DUBLIN, June 14.—The trial of the Fenian Walsh and a number of his companions, which has been in progress before the special Commission, in session at Limerick, resulted in the conviction of the accused.

Attempted Rescue.

DUBLIN, Evening, June 14.—The supposed Fenians who landed and were captured a short time ago at Dungannon, were subsequently taken to Waterford and confined in jail there. This week they have been undergoing a preliminary examination. The testimony given so far shows that four of them had served as officers in the United States army during the late rebellion. It has already been reported that Corydon, who was one of the chief witnesses against them, had been roughly handled by a mob yesterday. While the prisoners were being conducted from the court house to jail in charge of a strong police force, a crowd of their sympathizing friends gathered from all parts of the city and made a fierce attack on the guard, with the intention of effecting rescue. A fight ensued, during which some thirty of the police escort were injured. One of the attacking party was killed and six are known to have been wounded by the fire of the guard. The latter made a stout defense, and succeeded in safely depositing their prisoners in the city prison, when the mob dispersed.

MEXICO.

Maximilian Proposes to Abdicate.

He Denies the Jurisdiction of the Court Martial.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Herald's San Luis Potosi correspondent of June 2d, says: Tomorrow Maximilian, Mejia and Castillo, may possibly be sentenced to be shot. Maximilian offered to abdicate and use his influence to cause immediate surrender of the City of Mexico and Vera Cruz. In return he asks the lives and safe conduct out of the country for himself, his German officers and troops, and Generals Mejia and Castillo. The proposals were rejected. The Emperor Maximilian and Mejia were placed in seperate cells.

Notice has been served upon the President of the court-marshal, that Maximilian denies the jurisdiction of the court, on the grounds of international law. "I am a government," he says, "recognized by every power in the world except the United States, and can only be tried by a legal congress of nations." What the result will be, no one ventures to predict.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—The following is a letter from Gen. Diaz:

YACUBAYA, May 28.

Senor Don Matias Romero, Mexican Minister, Washington:

MY MUCH ESTEEMED FRIEND:—Since my last letter to you, the division of Gen. Riva Ratascio and a brigade from Puebla, which was attached to the army of the East during the seige of Queretaro, have been incorporated in the army of operation against the City of Mexico; also, the army of the West, under General Corona, and two battalions of the army of the North under that of Gen. Francisco La Taro. We number in all 35,000 men, and within a few days Mexico shall be ours. I could have taken it with the forces of the eastern army alone, but I had not sufficient cavalry to cover all the outlets through which the principal guilty parties would have escaped; but now, with 9,000 cavalry, all avenues will be well guarded, the same thing will happen as at Queratero—none will escape. I have full faith and great confidence in the resutl.

Within the city of Mexico the press still endeavors to deceive the people, by denying the fall of Queretaro and imprisonment of Maximilian, but both people and army have heard of it. I consider the occupation of Mexico a matter of a very few hours, and I do not believe Vera Cruz will attempt to hold out afterward. In conclusion, when you shall have received this, the soil of Mexico will have been cleared of traitors. Your sincere friend,

PORFIRIO DIAZ.

FROM CHINA.

Opening of Navigation on the Yangtzee Chang---Movements of U. S. Fleet---Firemen's Parade.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The steamer Colorado arrived unexpectedly to-night, twenty days and three hours from Yokohama, and Hong Kong on the 28th.

Ten ships are going up to Hankow this season to load for London. The Ada towed up several. The insurance offices refused to insure against the dangers of navigation in a tow of 700 miles. Business was dull the four days of the races. The banks, custom house and all the Consulates were closed four days.

The news from Pekin shows a move to open the Yangtzee Chang, four hundred miles from Hankow, on a revision of the treaty in 1868. Foreign ministers are expected at Hankow this fall.

The Reinfee in the Yantz caused great alarm, and hurt many villages. The fear had subsided. The corvette Wachusetts rendered great service at Kiankang, and saved the city. The American fleet in China and Japan consists of the Wachusetts, at Shanghai; Ashuelot and Monocacy, Hong Kong; Supply, Nagasaki; Hartford, Nagasaki; Shenandoah, Osaka; Wyoming, Yokohama; Penobscot, Unadilla, Huron, Sacramento, bound out. The Ironcais had reported at Hong Kong to relieve the Wachusetts.

There was great dissatisfaction at Shanghai at the neglect of the Colorado to connect. Russell & Co. were obliged to charter a steamer to find the Colorado one hundred miles at sea, with large mails. Wells & Fargo's New Express had nine tons of express packages. One hundred was offered if there was any certainty in the connections. The Pacific Mail Company must make connections more sure at Shanghai, the leading port in China, with imports of forty-eight million taels every year.

There was a grand parade of American fire companies, with three hand engines, one steam engine and one hook and ladder.

Shanghai continues very healthy. The American element is largely increasing.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY.

Anniversary Exercises--Address of Rev. E. P. Crane before the Literary Societies.

The anniversary of the Irving and Philomathean Literary Societies took place last evening in the new and beautiful Baptist Church, on Fourth street. The address was given by Rev. E. P. Crane, Professor in the University and a thorough scholar, and was in his easy and finished style. The crowded condition of our columns forbids our giving the entire address, which we regret. The following extracts will give our readers some idea of the beauty of the address. The subject was "Books and their Uses."

It was long before they began to make books by steam that Solomon complained of the endless multiplication of them. I wonder what the wise old King would say if he should see all the works he ever published, probably a thin octavo at most, on a shelf in a modern library. What did he know about making of many books?

We do the most of it by machine. Book machines are of two classes, according to the material of their structure, flesh and blood on one hand, and iron and type metal on the other. The first class we might call men machines, and they turn out by far the largest mass of the books that come from the press. The truth is, this nineteenth century, a very good century in its way, has done a great deal to turn men into machines. And this, too, not simply with reference to fingers and arms so that these become mere incidentals in trains of mechanism, to answer purposes that wheels and levers have not yet been made intelligent enough to subserve; but also with reference to brains, to make a very great proportion of what we call thinking, or at any rate writing, an altogether mechanical thing.

There is something almost appalling in a contemplation of the prodigious fecundity of the modern press. It would keep twelve men busy day and night without a moment's pause, to read all the volumes published daily in London, while to keep up at the same time with the world by reading all the newspapers of the city, would require the energies, as cruelly tasked, of forty men.

The great desideratum of the age is a book-reading machine. We have machines enough for making the commodity, and the idea is not so absurd as some may think.

In fact, if you will allow a little license of speech, I will demonstrate to you that we have, practically, something of the sort now in operation. An able editor once said to me: "I am trying to boil this column and a half of matter down to two or three squares." If you will reflect that the whole contents of the largest volume you ever read had to be run out so fine as to be able to enter through the little orifice of the iris, you will admit that here was a process in which he was saving you and me so much of the trouble of reading the original article as the reduction, the "boiling down," amounted to.

But to dismiss conjecture and prophecy.

This system of reading books by proxy has grown out of the exigencies of the case, and is one of the features of the age. To ignore it is to find yourself in the wrong century. There are books in regard to the general character of which I must form an opinion before I can command the leisure to read them, if I ever do it at all. It is one of the most preposterous of requirements that I should never praise a good book or denounce a bad one until I have turned over every leaf of it with my own fingers, and traveled over the whole area of every sheet with my own proper eyes. Yet, of course, there are some books which we must read for ourselves. These are, for example, the standard text books in the art or profession you have chosen. It will not do for the theologian to get his theology, the physician his physiology, nor the lawyer his jurisprudence from magazines and reviews, nor must the man of science or even the manufacturer or artizan who wishes to rise above mere mechanical routine, satisfy himself with the smatterings of natural science that he can get from newspaper clippings or the like. In everything that bears directly upon your own daily duties, determine to go as near to the very bottom of the matter as you can, and let what intelligence you are able to gather, be systematically acquired from the most approved treatises and methods of study. Alas! what a melancholy waste have we seen of whole lifetimes and the energies of unquestionable genius in utterly impracticable schemes, all for want of a little systematic training in the elements of physical science! Any one who has lived where inventive talent is at all active, can furnish you with a superfluity of examples. It is rather out of my line, but I cannot forbear the remark, that it is a thousand pities that this thing is not better understood here, and that in a community whose wealth is altogether in its manufacturing industry, there is so little interest taken in effecting a general diffusion of sound scientific instruction by means of elementary lectures, strictly systematic yet popular, by really able men, and free to the men and especially the boys whose sweat and muscle we are coining into money. Aside from the question of justice to these laborers, the real interests of the community require it. Why, there is no computing the millions of money there may be in a single thought now locked up in the brain of some poor over-worked lad in yonder mill. You may send your sons off here and there to this or the other college, scientific or polytechnic school, and think they can bring home with them all the science we want here: you may argue that all the brains you need in a mill are those of proprietors and foremen, but in your theory and your practice you ignore all the philosophy of the history of mechanical invention. The inventions which have wrought the great revolution in the mechanic arts have come from the mechanics themselves. The exceptions are a percentage almost too trifling to be mentioned. And, too, these same inventions have come, as a general rule, from those communities where science does most to diffuse her blessed light, and scatter her pregnant hints among the men of grim feature and brawny arm, but often no less of active brain. Ah! it is no wonder that the men whose shoulders are peeled under the burdens of labor, should be the most intensely in earnest in trying to think out ways to shift the load upon muscles of iron and steel!

I was saying that a small class of books must be taken whole—not simply swallowed but tasted, for in their delicate flavor is found their chief value.

The enormous plethora of books, and reading matter generally, with which the world is suffering, often occasions a morbid sensation, of which most of you probably have had experience. It is one which makes reading a wretched drudgery. It is illustrated by the sense of relief you have felt when in a review or magazine which you were in haste to dispatch you came to an article you could conscientiously conclude was not worth reading. Possibly it has had illustration in a more depraved form within you, though it is not for me to judge others, as when, in despair of mastering the books now extant, we discover to ourselves an undefined yet most reprovable satisfaction when we read how "The Romans burnt the books of the Jews, of the Christians and of the philosphers; the Jews burnt the works of the Christians and the Pagans; the Christians burnt the books of the Pagans and the Jews, whilst Omar, mighty with the sword and the syllogism"—I follow tradition, though I believe it does him injustice—impartially burnt at Alexandria the books of them all.

The truth is, we sometimes get book-mad. We want to read—rather let us say to have read, everything that anybody has read or is expected to read. It is an altogether morbid feeling; it is a mental dyspepsia with its wolfish appetite. Some men are totally given up to it.

It cannot but be that study carried to this limit is an outrage upon the laws of nature. We laugh at the man who took up a bill of fare and, commencing with the first soup in the course, felt it to be a duty he owed to etiquette to take the predestined portion of each article of diet therein set down; we are disgusted with the man who from mere swinishness makes it a point to have a taste, at least, of everything that appears on the table. Why should not literary men learn a lesson from the self-suggestive analogy?

It is obvious, that in our intercourse with books, as in our intercourse with men, we must exercise some discrimination. If this be a wise discrimination, our knowledge is digested into wisdom, and the general effect is that of a house furnished throughout according to the cultivated taste of a single mind; if it be but a haphazard catching up of what comes to hand, it will be like some houses you have seen whose proprietors have a passion for auction furniture, and whose rooms and halls are altogether more suggestive of "bargains" and "splendid chances" than of comfort and convenience.

Here, then, is an important province for decision of character to be brought into play. A man must make up his mind what to read and what not to read, and he must be man enough to adhere to his resolution, if he means to be anything more than a chip afloat on the current of literature. Of course, it is not meant that he must at the outset determine what particular volumes he will peruse, for that would be impracticable, but he must come to a definite conclusion as to what subjects he will read up upon and what he will not attempt, because of their reconditeness in comparison with the amount of leisure he has at command, or their remoteness from the topics with which, in his particular calling, he has to deal. Of many of these, to be sure, he will want some knowledge in their general principles, but further than that he must firmly refuse to go, for he must otherwise sacrifice branches of knowledge that belong to his proper mental furniture, and in which, too, aside from the value to him of the results possible to be attained, he can accomplish, hour for hour, greatly more than in the field, more foreign to his capabilities and pursuits.

Especially is this caution called for when we determine the amount of literary recreation to be indulged in. I hold it right to unbend the mind at times in the perusal of novels and poetry. That there is a dangerous fascination in them I fully admit, but that of itself proves nothing. I do not know why we should insist that recreations, any more than duties, should be free from all possibilities of danger. But it is of prime importance that danger, where it exists, should be recognized, and here it certainly does lurk. Thousands whose talents, whose abundant leisure and whose taste for reading promised well for a large and useful culture, have just thrown themselves away in literary dissipation.

So much for method and fixed habits in reading. There are those who seem to have the idea that the only use there is in a book is in your reading it right through. If you talk of buying a new book, they will say, "Have you read all the books you have on those shelves?" I would ask such a man, "Have you read your dictionary through, faithfully, by chapter and verse, observing all the sequences of thought and arranging the subject matter of the treatise in proper logical divisions?"

A book may have a value to you which you have never read nor ever expect to; and that not a book of reference either. I refer to the power of association in books. How much of life these associations retain when the volumes to which they attach are mouldy and dry! Have you the Bible of the old homestead family altar? Have you the coarse-print Testament your mother has stained with tears, here of penitence, here of tenderness, and there of rapturous joy? Have you some tome of strong old-fashioned theology, with its quaint typography and even quainter phrasings of God's blessed truth;—a book that was last studied by the grandsire who left a saintly blessing on your flaxen head as long ago as you can remember? Have you a primer with its pictured A B C, that was only half learned through because God took the little scholar from your lap? Then you have no need for further words on a theme so tenderly suggestive.

We have in these days our hand-books and cyclopedias of literature, corresponding somewhat to the anthologies of former times. They belong to the book-reading contrivances to which reference has been already made, and are unquestionably a good thing in their way. Many are dependent upon them for all the knowledge they can ever acquire of the works of the master minds of the past. But if you can get the very books from which these selections are made, even though you read the very same matter and no more, it is better to do so. The original is the author's own book. It is associated solely with his name, and helps you to give an individuality to your conceptions of the man.

As for many of us, it is wisely ordained that no overwhelming responsibilities should be laid upon us in the form of worldly estates, and hence large collections of books of our own are out of the question, it is natural in this immediate connection to remark upon the advantage of public libraries. Granting even that so far as occupying your time profitably and agreeably is concerned, you have books enough at home, it would still be of advantage to you to make frequent visits to a well selected and extensive collection. It does one good to be among books, to be familiar with their titles, to handle them, to meet those who have read them and to talk about them, in a word to get that general acquaintance with authors to which I have just adverted. This, I need not say, may go too far. There are those who, for one reason or another, have much to do with books, who manage to learn everything about them except what is in them. Sciolism and pedantry can thus get upon easy terms the capital they trade on. But you need not be a butterfly, because by way of variety, now and then, you take butterfly sips of the nectar of a thousand flowers.

Furthermore, a lecture and a conversational discussion have each its advantages. The lecture I would compare to the single volume read perseveringly through, the colloquy to what we may enjoy in a good library when, gathering a snug little pile of books around our easy chair, we make Plato interrupt Bacon, or Sophocles slip some of his rolling iambics into Hamlet; if old Izaak Walton gets too garrulous for our humor, and the day is hot, we can exchange longitudes with the "advance," or in her cozy cabin talk over circumpolar politics with Dr. Kane; or, again, if we want a milder contrast, trip off with Tom Moore to some Persian paradise, with its balmy zephyrs to shake perfume out of the orange blossoms or music out of the mimic cataract.

And now methinks the spirit of prophesy stirs within me. The child is born that shall see libraries in Pittsburgh! The stately column, the lofty dome, the classic arch, the sculptured marble shall arrest the eye of the stranger and invite him to enter and view Pittsburgh's treasures of Art and Letters! The noble institution that rallies the proud love of these young hearts, shall count its corps of educators by the ten thousand in noble array upon our library shelves, all embodying the best thoughts of the noblest minds!

But to descend from the tripod. We were speaking of the by-talks we may have with authors in the library room. This comes in, of course, as a recreation from study. But what a grand and dignified recreation!

I think it is Chancellor Kent who remarks that the mind finds recreation in a change of pursuits. There is something curious about this, as there is in a fact in physics, which very well illustrates it. You know that what is a plenum to one vapor is a vacuum to another; that is, after you have filled a vessel with one vapor there is just as much room as there ever was for another, and you all know that after you have filled a tumbler brimming full of water, you can still, without displacing a drop of the liquid, introduce into it a good-sized handful of various chemicals. When, therefore, young gentlemen, under Alma Mater's generous care you find yourselves full of Latin, Greek, Mathematics and the various sciences, you need not fear but there will be still room in the microcosm of mind for banks, rolling mills, steamboats, and the like utilities.

I have already adverted to the agency of newspapers in greatly reducing the bulk of much that you could never read in gross. I return to the subject to give to my young literary friends a word of advice in this connection. There is a large amount of matter which the newspaper presents to you day by day in an ephemeral form, but which is worthy of more than ephemeral attention.

For such, I would by all means advise you to have a scrap-book always at hand. A few years hence you will find it invaluable. The mental discipline, too, you will acquire in determining what thus to preserve, and especially in indexing the whole, so as to make it fully available, will be beyond all estimate.

One man cannot make exactly such a book as another man wants. This will be your own, and will correspond to your own peculiar tastes and daily needs.

This idea of making books has one solemn aspect. Each man of you, my young friends, is doing it. Each action, word and thought makes a sentence, stereotyped upon the moment. It is printed in your characters, in your reputation and on the awful pages of prophecy and doom. For it is a book of prophecy, as well as of historic record, and its prophetic scope is measureless as eternity. Count it of infinitely less interest to break the seals of God's decrees, than to write advisedly with the pen of moral action the words of irreversible fate.

We have heretofore had to do with "hoi polloi" in the book republic. Now for a hint in another direction, suggested by the old adage, "Beware of the man of one book." It means that he is a dangerous man to meet. One charge, rammed home in a good gun, is worth a ton of loose powder. Be yourselves men of one book, not by any means restricting your reading to one, but making one your favorite, and making the great bulk of your reading to tend to the elucidation of its topics. And if these words of mine might have a thousand fold the force I can impress upon them, I would, without misgiving, assume the responsibility of making that one book the Bible. The book for the counting room, the workshop and the roadside; the book for the young, the beautiful and the light of heart; the book for the aged, the way-worn and them that have wounds that bleed deep within; the book for the tempted, the book for the strong, the book for the fallen, that they can clasp to their polluted and broken hearts; the book that can make music for the joyous soul and give the words of high psalmody for her praises, and that can speak softly and tenderly when every heart-throb is an agony and every breath a sigh. And he is not to be congratulated who has reached adult age without seeing some such hours. He has steeled his heart and deadened its holiest sympathies against a creation's travail groans. Oh! if I may have but one book to read henceforward, let God's own penman write it, and let His own spirit breathe forth from its pages in wisdom for my folly, in chiding for my wandering, in pity for my weakness and griefs, and in an inspiration of hope that puts me less than a cable's length from things "within the vail."

Crude Petroleum as Fuel---Highly Satisfactory Test.

BOSTON, June 14.—An invention for substituting crude petroleum for coal in steam navigation, was tested to-day on the Government steamer Palos, and proved a success. Steam was got up in twenty five minutes, and the Palos proceeded down the harbor and back to the Navy Yard, a distance of twenty-five nautical miles, in one hour and fifty-five minutes. In making the trip she consumed but five barrels of oil. The Palos was built for the Government as an eight knot boat, and with coal could never be made to exceed that speed.

FROM GEORGIA.

Before the Rebellion and Now--Great Change of Sentiment--Farms and Plantations--The Coming Crops.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

ATLANTA, GA., June 3, 1867.

For the last twelve months I have been impressed with the idea of visiting my former abode, "The Sunny South," the country I was obliged to leave under such peculiar circumstances. Six years have rolled by, and yet it seems but yesterday that I left friends and foes speculating on the prospects of the future of the South. The whole country was then in the greatest flush of excitement, exulting over the victory of Bull's Run. Here you could see a soldier who had just returned from Virginia, exhibiting a piece of bone from some dead Yankee. There you could see a coat, sword or gun captured by one of the F. F.'s of Georgia or Alabama. Here you could see ladies preparing lint, and there you could see men forming vigilance committees for the purpose of protecting property at home. If before the battle of Bull's Run the excitement had not yet reached its climax, this victory certainly brought it about. Every Southern gentleman, and every one who wished to be one, was now ready to take part in the rebellion. To be sure, it was not expected the Yankees would fight for any length of time. One or two more thrashings like that of Bull Run, would end the war, and then we shall be the F. F.'s of the whole universe. How different did I think! How strange it seemed to me, that men who were so well informed on many subjects, could be so utterly blind on this one. Oh, how wretched and miserable I was then. How painful were all those insults I suffered, and how sad, mournful and gloomy were those days. I left those "gay and festive scenes for other places."

With this impression still fresh upon my mind, I am now returning to the lost Paradise of slavery to see the effects of one of the greatest revolutions in the annals of history. The change that has been wrought in the minds of the people South is very perceptible. The colored servants in the different hotels on my route, at Nashville, Chattanooga and this place, are more attentive and polite than ever I have seen them in this part of the country before. They seem to work more willingly, take greater interest in what they do, and know well that they are not working for nothing. It was a very pleasing sight here to see eight or ten of the waiter boys, after they had got through with their dinner work, march off with their spelling books and readers in hand, as proud as any of our Yale College students could be. They get two hours of tuition, and at teatime were again at their post, to all appearances happy and cheerful. Ten years ago, on parting with a favorite servant of mine in St. Augustine, Florida, I questioned him if he wished me to bring him anything from the North, the next time I returned, and he begged of me to bring him a small book, "such as de little children have, for to learn how to read."

The manners and the conversation of the whites have also changed greatly. The tyrannical call of "Here, boy," or girl, which would always send a thrill of fright through the negro and make him appear like the dog that expects the whip, is gone, and you hear instead "William," "John," or "waiter, will you please do this" or "that." It seems to me courtesy between the whites and blacks here now exceeds that of the servant and master in other countries. Timidity on the part of the whites may be the cause.

"Whom are you going to vote for, Captain?" —just think of "Captain" a negro!—asked a white man of a bystanding freedman at Dalton, Ga., the other day. "I'll vote the Republican ticket." "Why are you going to do that?" "The Republicans are my friends." "Don't you think you have any friends among the Southern people?" "If I have they had a strange way of showing their friendship," was the prompt reply.

Loafing about the depots and hotels seems to have come to grief. The people have the appearance of having something else to do now. The use of whisky and tobacco must have greatly diminished. There is more cleanliness in the railroad cars, and until now I have seen but one case of drunkenness. The traveling public is of the middle and lower class, and reminds one of our Western people. I have also met some German immigrants, the first I have seen down here.

Farms and plantations throughout Kentucky, Tennessee and Georgia look very well, and are under a good state of cultivation. The fences and houses are in a very good condition. The crops look prosperous, wheat and oats especially.

Atlanta has greatly changed; I hardly recognize a single house. The streets and outskirts even seem strange. All along the railroad from Chattanooga here, Sherman's march is still very perceptible. Many ruins of burnt down factories will be seen in years to come, and to judge by the miles and miles of earthworks and other fortifications along these railroads our boys must have had a great deal of hard work.

What will posterity say, when it some future day will visit the sacred grounds of Murfreesboro, Nashville, Chattanooga and this place, and see the thousands of graves of our slumbering heroes? L.

FROM JAPAN.

Visit of Foreign Ministers to Osaca---Friendly Reception by the Tycoon---He Drinks the President's Health---The Crops Favorable.

NEW YORK, June 14.—A special to the Herald from San Francisco says: The Colorado brings fifty first-class passengers and a full cargo of freight.

Intelligence from Japan is of a highly interesting and important nature. The visit of foreign ministers to Osaca concluded on the 20th of May, and those functionaries had returned to Yokohama. The treatment of the foreigners by the Tycoon at Osaca was princely. Houses had been prepared for them, filled with the costliest European furniture. French cooks and European servants were provided, wines and liquors were without stint, and in fact everything they wanted during their stay was furnished in abundance and free of expense. Each representative and suite was granted a private audience and dinner with the Tycoon several days before the official visits took place. On these occasions the Tycoon presided at the table, in a large, high room, wholly European in outfittings. The dinner was thoroughly French in detail. Small but valuable presents were laid beside each plate. The Tycoon is a man of ordinary stature, apparently thirty-three years of age, with good features. He was very richly dressed, and his manner easy and refined. He thoroughly understands the European custom of drinking toasts, and drank the health of the President of the United States with a gusto. At the official visit, which was of short duration, everything was Japanese. After the usual common-places, the Tycoon expressed to Minister Von Valkenburg his great gratification at the establishment of a new steamship line between America and Japan. Japanese Tommy acted as interpreter for the American legation throughout the visit. Subsequently the Tycoon met the Minister at Hiago, eleven miles across the Bay, and laid out a foreign settlement, where a tract of ground a mile in width, extending three or four miles back from the water, has been appropriated under the same arrangement as in other ports of Japan. The anchorage is good. The settlement of Osaca is about the center of the town. All were highly pleased with Osaca.

In about a month the ministers will visit the west coast to locate a port there. The place selected will probably be Panonga, in the Province of Kanga.

Among the sports at Osaca was a race between the boats of the American ships Shenandoah and Wyoming, by which the officers of the latter ship lost $3,000.

The Prince of Owari, who is second officer of the Empire, visited Yokohama recently. He has been until lately prejudiced strongly against foreigners. He was received with all honors, and in many places all business was suspended.

The whaling bark Canton Packet, Captain Frazer, of New Bedford, went ashore on the 3d of April, at Syria Takai, on the northwest coast of Niphon, and broke up in five minutes and became a total loss. Her cargo had previously been shipped for home. James Fairbanks, of Baltimore, and four Lanakers were drowned on the 10th of May.

The United States ships Hartford and Wyoming have gone down the Inland Sea, the latter homeward bound. The Shenandoah is at Yokohama, where the Monocacy and Supply were expected. Nothing of importance from Shanghai or Hong Kong. A cable has been ordered in England for a submarine telegraph between Hong Kong and Shanghai. Among the passengers on the Colorado are the Duc De Penthelvre, Pierre D'Orleans, Count Benairs, and Capt. Fanvell, who intend to spend some time in California; Capt. Lardo, of P. M. 20th regiment, who intends enjoying shooting on the plains, and Sasaki Younuk, a highly sharpened retainer of Prince Echisen, who will study mines and mining in California, and proceed thence to the east, where he will buy 15,000 of the most improved rifles.

There are no changes in prices of silk. Sterling exchange was rising. The news was very favorable regarding the crops in the country, in most of the districts the silk worms were reported in about the third stage of temperature, which is regarded as favorable. The best My besh and Larchi were quoted at 850@895 per picul. The stock of tea is very much reduced. The finest rules at $35@40 per picul. The Japanese say there will be increased production this year, and the lowest prices are hoped for.

Surrender of Bank Charters in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, GA., June 14.—Judge Reese, in the Supreme Court to-day, decided that neither at common law nor under the code, of Georgia could the banks of the State make a legal surrender of their charters unless accepted by the Legislature. This decision, in its effects, annuls all attempted surrenders of banks of the State, as the Legislature failed to accept in every instance where the attempt had been made.

ANNAPOLIS, June 14.—To-day was the thirtieth of the Constitutional Convention. SEVERE ACCIDENT.—A son of Mr. Scott, aged about nine years, residing near the Outer Depot, in the Second ward, Allegheny, met with a severe accident on Thursday evening. He was running across the railroad track in front of an approaching train of cars, when his foot caught in a spike, throwing him down with such force as to cause a fracture of the thigh bone, and rendering him unable to move. A gentleman, fortunately, happened to be standing near by, who ran and extricated him before the train came along. The injured lad was carried to his father's residence, where his limb was dressed by Dr. McCargill.

CITY MATTERS.

TROT AT OAKLAND PARK.—A grand exhibition and trial of speed will take place at Oakland Park, this afternoon at three o'clock. Three thorough breds will be entered—Jennie Van, Virginia Belle and Lobelia, the last named from Salem, Ohio. They will compete for a purse and premium of one hundred dollars, and the owners and friends of each are backing them freely. So far no odds have been given. Another trot will take place between the same nags on Monday afternoon next, at two o'clock, mile heats, two in three. Pools will be sold at the St. Lawrence Hotel, corner of Penn and Canal streets, this evening at half-past eight o'clock.

WOMAN SEVERELY INJURED.—A young woman named Mary Gregory met with a severe accident early yesterday morning. She states that she was coming from a party about half-past two o'clock, and while passing Fulton's Law Building, on Grant street, her ankle, which was afflicted with rheumatism, turned under her and she fell. Her cries brought aid to her rescue, when it was found that she had been quite severely injured. She was conveyed on a settee to the Mayor's office, and Drs. Murdoch and Sutton called in, who attended her. An examination proved that both bones of the right leg were broken, and the ankle joint dislocated. She was afterwards conveyed to the home of her sister, in the Seventh ward.

RUNAWAYS AND SMASH-UPS.—Two horses attached to a wagon, owned by a countryman named James Sikels, took fright in the Allegheny Diamond, yesterday morning about eleven o'clock, and ran away, upsetting a butcher wagon, and starting the horses attached to it. The latter horses ran into a one horse team, which started two others, and in a short time all the butcher wagons in the Diamond were running about. The result of the runaways was the smashing and wrecking of eight wagons. Strange to say, no body was hurt, although some of the wagons contained occupants.

About noon yesterday, a horse attached to a wagon took fright on Federal street, Allegheny, and galloped off at a terrible gait, running the shaft of the wagon into the flank of a valuable horse, which was attached to a buggy. The animal was so severely injured, as to necessitate its being shot.

Grand Lodge of the I. O. of G. T. of Pennsylvania---Third and Last Day's Session.

The fourteenth annual session of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars of Pennsylvania, held in Mozart Hall, this city, was concluded yesterday. The morning session was opened with prayer by the Grand Worthy Chaplain, after which the minutes of the preceding meeting was read and approved. The installation of the following newly elected officers of the Grand Lodge then took place: G. W. C. T., Rev. J. S. McMurray; G. W. C., Rev. Daniel Hartman; G. W. V. T., Miss Jane C. King; G. W. S., Miss L. Ellen Wright; G. W. T., Mrs. Marietta B. Burt; G. W. Chaplain, Rev. J. E. McGaw; G. W. M., Rev. J. F. Meredith; G. W. D. M., Miss Hannah J. Bailey; G. W. I. G., Miss Sidney B. Stebbens; G. W. O. G., A. A. Stevens. A number of resolutions on the temperance question were adopted, and several questions not of public character, discussed. At half-past twelve o'clock, a recess was taken until afternoon.

The Lodge re-assembled at two o'clock, and was opened with prayer by the G. W. Chaplain. The reports of the committees were made the special order of business. The several committees then made lengthy reports. That upon the state of the Order was particularly interesting and gratifying. An able and eloquent address on the temperance cause was then delivered by D. J. E. Riley, which was received with much applause. Several other addresses were well received.

The Lodge met again in the evening, but the business transacted was of a private character, and hence we have no report. The Lodge then adjourned sine die.

A Disgraceful Scene.

Thursday evening about nine o'clock a young woman in liquor was observed on Liberty street, near the Elevator, cursing and offering to fight any person who dare attack her. Her outbursts of passion were audible for squares distant. Women, children and even men looked upon her in pity and amazement. Every one inquired, is there no police force in this neighborhood? It appears that there are none. She wandered along the street in that vicinity screaming and swearing for nearly one hour, but no policeman heard her. At ten o'clock she had collected around her, on Smithfield street, some one hundred feet south of Sixth, a crowd of some fifty men and boys who became somewhat excited under her curses and offers to fight any person. A regular ring was formed on the pavement and a "stripling," encouraged by the crowd, offered fight. Some four rounds were scored up—sometimes the woman down and sometimes the youth. At a great distance off the valiant watchman's rap was heard, and after a succession of raps for several minutes some two courageous watchmen made their appearance, and at last, without resistance, carried off the drunken woman. Only two days days ago, in the same neighborhood, two "Mudlarks," stripped to the waist, had a regular ring fight in broad daylight—fought it out in four rounds and left with a draw fight—undisturbed by the police. Such things are too common in the vicinity of the Elevator, and there are never any arrests. Cannot there be some kind of a reformation made in regard to the policing of this long noted place of outrage?

Probable Fatal Affair.

Mrs. Margaret Henry, residing on Shingiss street, in the Eighth ward, appeared yesterday before Alderman Lynch, and made three informations—one for felonious assault and battery against a colored woman named Charlotte Reilley, one for the same offense against a white woman named Mary Beck, and the other for keeping a disorderly house against Nancy J. Leonard, colored. It appears that on Thursday, near midnight, a fight occurred in a house occupied by Nancy Leonard, adjoining that of Mrs. Henry, where, it is alleged, persons of a lewd character congregate for unlawful purposes, and disturb the neighborhood. During the fight, Charlotte Reilley, it is alleged, hurled a large pitcher at Mary Ann Henry, daughter of the prosecutrix, striking her on the head, lacerating the scalp and wounding her very dangerously. Mary Beck, it is alleged, hurled a large stone at John W. Henry, son of the deponent, striking him in the face and quite severely injuring him. Some police officers happened to be in the vicinity of the house at the time the row occurred, and took the defendants into custody. The daughter of Mrs. Henry, who was struck with the pitcher, is very dangerously injured, and it is feared her injuries will prove fatal. She is attended by Dr. Biddle Arthurs. Catharine Reilley, who is charged with committing the assault, was committed to jail to await the result of the girl's injuries. Mary Best and Nancy Leonard, the other defendants, were held to bail for a hearing to-day.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

[Before Alderman McMasters.]

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Ann Grimes made complaint yesterday against Charles Schrum, for assault and battery. The deponent is a cook at the Tremont House, in the Diamond, and the defendant is a boarder there. Yesterday morning while waiting on the table, Schrum asked for some meat, and when he was informed by the prosecutrix that they had none, it is alleged, he caught her violently by the arm and knocked her down. The accused was arrested and held to bail for trial.

LARCENY AS BAILEE.

James Hoon was charged with larceny as bailee, on oath of Mary Winn. The parties reside on Liberty street, near the Duquesne Depot, and deponent alleges that she gave the defendant $19 50 to pay the rent for her house, but instead of doing so he appropriated the money to his own use. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

[Before Alderman Donaldson.]

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

John O'Neil, charged on oath of Mr. Joseph Purcell, with fraud and false pretenses, had a hearing yesterday, which resulted in his being committed to jail for trial, in default of five hundred dollars bail.

[Before Alderman Johns.]

CUT HER BOARD BILL.

Elizabeth Reid lodged information yesterday against Hattie Lee, charging her with obtaining board under false pretenses. The parties are colored. The accused was arrested, but upon the payment of the bill and costs, the suit was withdrawn.

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENSES.

Henry Reis, proprietor of the Fort Sumter House, made an information some days since against Thos. B. Rogers, for false pretenses. The accused, it appears, had been boarding at the Fort Sumter, and had given notes on the New Castle Bank to the amount of $120 in payment therefor. The notes were sent to New Castle, but were returned protested, and from this circumstance Mr. Reis considered that he had been victimized and instituted the suit against Rogers. The accused had gone to New Castle, and yesterday officer Wilmot, armed with a warrant from the Alderman, visited that place, arrested Rogers, and brought him to this city. He was held for a hearing.

INSOLVENT RELEASED.—Terrence Brady, convicted of aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery, and sentenced to payment of a fine and three months imprisonment in the county jail, having served his term of imprisonment, yesterday claimed the benefit of the insolvent act for the fine, and was discharged.

OPERA HOUSE.—This afternoon, at two o'clock, a popular matinee will be given, when the beautiful drama of "Colleen Bawn" will be performed. This evening the favorite young actress, Miss Louise Sylvester, will personate "Jack Shephard," and will be supported by a good distribution of the remaining characters in the play. As there is no other place of amusement open in the city, the Opera House should be filled this afternoon and evening.

A Card.

Mr. V. de Ham, teacher of the piano, returns thanks to his numerous friends and patrons for the very liberal patronage accorded to him during the past season, and would respectfully inform them and the public generally that he has suspended teaching for the usual summer vacation, but will resume his lessons on or about the 15th September.

First Gold Medal of Honor.

The Boston Post, of Thursday, says: "We are in receipt of La France Musicale, Figaro, Gazette Musicale and other files of French papers, which announce the fact that our Boston House of Chickering & Sons, have been awarded the first gold medal of honor at the Paris Exposition. The official award of the jury will be made July 1st, and their report will clearly show what they consider the American pianos, and their opinion that C. & Son's are the best in the Exposition."

Paris Correspondence of "The Vienna Lloyd."

From the above leading Vienna journal we extract the following in reference to the American Pianos at the Paris Exposition:

In my last letter I informed you that the Jury of Examination on Musical Instruments had completed their arduous labors and submitted the result of their examination to the Supreme Jury.

Three Grand International First Prize Gold Medals in place of one. One of these has been awarded to the firm of "Steinway & Sons" of New York, one to the American firm exhibiting from Boston, classified according to merit, Messrs. Steinway first, and the remaining one to Broadwood of London.

This result, though perfectly justified by the great superiority of the American Instruments, will doubtless create a profound sensation throughout musical Europe.

The pianos from the United States represent two entirely different systems of construction, but all have a full frame of cast iron, which invention was patented and first applied as early as the year 1825, by Alphens Babcock of Philadelphia, to square pianos.

Without, however, wishing to detract from the merits of other makers, I must say that the pianos exhibited by Steinway & Sons, of New York, have, through the marvelous grandeur of their tone, and the novelty of their construction, excited by far the greatest wonderment and admiration of alike Piano-makers, musicians, professional artists, and the general musical public who surround the Steinway instruments in dense crowds from morning till night. Stephen Heller, Kruger, Alfred Jaell, Ritter, Lavignac, and nearly all the leading artists in Paris have performed on these pianos, and exhibit a decided preference for them over any others in the Exposition. The venerable composer Rossini, who still prides himself not a little on his piano playing, recently examined the Steinway pianos, and frankly expressed his astonishment and delight at their prodigious sonority—yet at the same time exceedingly musical and "singing" quality of their tone—which enables the pianist to produce at will any gradation of light and shade from the most delicately whispered phrase to the grandest orchestral effects. The Steinway Grand Pianos have been played on quite a number of times in the best concerts here, and are eagerly sought after for these purposes by the most eminent artists now in Paris.

Nearly all the Piano manufacturers in Paris—the great Erard included—have already commenced to build instruments on Steinway's new system, and there is but little doubt that within a few years the old method of constructing Pianos will be as thoroughly superseded and exploded in Europe as it is in America, as nearly all the piano-makers represented at the Exposition freely acknowledge the superiority of vibration, and other manifest advantages resulting from Steinway's Overstrung construction, together with the application of the Agraffes, and their latest and most important invention of the regulation of the tension of the sounding-board.

These masterpieces of ingenuity and mechanical skill must be seen and heard to be appreciated, and their wonder will cease at the announcement that the firm of Steinway & Sons have, in the comparatively brief space of 15 years, succeeded in building up the largest piano manufacturing establishment in the world.—New York Tribune, Tuesday, June 11.

The Daily Commercial

SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

NEXT to the perfect silence of the Democratic State Convention on the Free Railroad Question, is its silence concerning ANDREW JOHNSON. For him they have not a word; like a squeezed lemon he is cast aside. One year ago the case was wholly different. Then hundreds of offices fascinated hundreds of Democrats. Having either lost or won the spoils, they have no further occasion to speak well of him.

THE latest peculiarity developed in the Tribune is its frequent threats at Secretary STANTON, of whom it speaks as "subservient" to the President. The Tribune is consistent. It could not speak otherwise of Mr. STANTON after the part Mr. GREELEY took in setting DAVIS free. Could Mr. STANTON have had his way, the organizer and head of the rebellion would have had justice done him long ago. Mr. STANTON's efforts in this behalf render him a fit mark for the Tribune's shafts.

THE Post, by some strange oversight, has failed to see our remarks on the Resolution of the Republican Convention, of which it is trying to make so much capital among our foreign fellow citizens. We lost no time in noticing it, and have shown it no more favor than the Post has, although we have not followed the Post's manner of discussing it any more than it has ours. By referring to its files, it will discover that we were before itself in giving the resolution a fair consideration.

THE President, it is reported, threatens to convene Congress in August, if it does not come together in July, giving as a reason the trouble growing out of the enforcement of the Reconstruction laws. One would suppose that the President would prefer almost anything before a meeting of Congress; and we question very much if the report truly reflects the Presidential purpose. If the South has any influence with Mr. JOHNSON, it had better use it to keep quiet—enforce the law—and have Congress as far away from Washington as possible.

ALTHOUGH our currency is the best we have ever had, yet there is a class of persons and some of the press, that never cease to express their dissatisfaction with it. It is easy enough too see why some would be better pleased with a more diversified and dubious currency. In former times large sums were made by exchanges of one local currency for another, by fluctuating values, by panics, with reference to particular banks; for practical purposes, embracing safety and convenience, it would be difficult to imagine how a paper currency could be better than that which we have secured by the credit of the government. Those who see "snaiks" in the currency, in the business prospects, in the national finances, in manufacturing enterprises, in land improvements, must, like persons in delirium tremens, be credited to a morbid fancy for the sight.

THE late Democratic Convention was fully in harmony with the party, which has but one mission and one aim, and that is to get into power. If there is any force in the common business maxim about fixing the mind and directing the efforts upon one thing—we think the Democratic party has reason to be hopeful, for it apparently has thought of nothing else than the regaining of power in the country, even since its own treachery to the interests of the country forfeited and lost the power. With a single eye to its chief end—the seizure of the "sceptre of dominion" as it was expressed in the opening of the Convention—the plans of the party were developed and exhibited in the platform. They do not embrace anything relating to the General Railroad Law, the great popular measure of the State. Whether this omission results from their opposition to the law, as some maintain; or to an absolute forgetfulness of the interests of the State, through complete absorption in those of the party, it betrays a want of public spirit and of concern for the general prosperity, that cannot be trusted by the people with the management of their affairs.

MEAT AND DRINK.

The meat question has been occupying the attention of the public, but not more than it should. The developements that have been made have not reached the bottom of the horrid business. Hundreds of people are getting "particular" on the roasts and the steaks that they buy in market. It is well that this squeamishness comes in summer when the appetite for meat is weak at any rate.

But one may reasonably be indulged with a fling at the caprice and whimmishness of human nature on an occasion like the present. The report is made of some bad meat being sold clandestinely in the market, by persons void of principle or decency, and it sets everybody's stomach in a stir. The very idea of the possibility of having passed a piece of the foul stuff into the mouth and stomach, makes one look suspiciously on the most innocent and toothsome animal food on the table. Yet no one, or very few at farthest, has the same qualms about the bad liquors that are sold in the shops. Whisky is whisky, and though one sort will carry inflammation and cancerous sores into the stomach, this does not hinder people from drinking the other sort and this too. It tears down muscular strength, depresses the animal spirits, wastes money, produces misery, sickness and death, and all this is known, but people do not go into excitement about it, on the contrary, they license it and put money into the treasury by it. But let dog's meat be suspected in sausages, and everybody becomes total abstainers at once. On the sanitary point bad liquors are worse than bad meat.

APOLOGETIC VIEW OF CRIME.

The COMMERCIAL is not much given to sensationalism in the shape of horrid or disgusting stories. Murders, whether cold-blooded ones for money, or brutal ones for lust, occupy but a small space in its columns beyond the mere announcement. We recur to a double murder that was lately mentioned in our news columns, in order to note the editorial views of it given by two prominent New York journals. It is the case of a young man who shot the girl that was living with him and then shot himself, after a course of wild and reckless dissipation had brought both to destitution and despair.

The Times speaks of it as "something very tragic and very sad," and attributes it to the young man's "lacking courage for a plucky fight with the world," and the fear that the girl "must fall back upon a life of shame." "He killed her," says the Times, "not from hate but from love, not to harm her but to save her from harm worse than death." This is about as gentle an apology for a most brutal murder, as we have ever met with. The wretched man led the girl to a life of shame, and shared it with her as long as he could, and then, apparently without consulting her upon the subject, or knowing whether or not she approved of that form of love, as the Times calls it, put a bullet through her heart, or, in the tender phrase of the Times, "sent her out of life before him." Nor is the Times satisfied with expressing its own marked sentiments. It sneeringly adds: "The good people of the world will see in this only the fruit of illicit passion," and then follows its apology for the murder with a positive expression of admiration. "But this poor fellow, weak and wicked as he was, showed himself capable of giving up his own life to save one he loved, from utter wreck and degradation;" and, as if to prevent so worthy an example from being lost, virtually recommends it as a model—"and there are not too many people in this world, of any rank or class, capable of doing that."

The Herald, not celebrated for its high moral tone, takes a much more manly view of this shocking case. Expressing just horror of the deed of young KING, "occasioned by poverty as the result of riotous living and his infatuation for the beautiful waiter girl whom he could no longer support," the Herald ascribes it to the "practical atheism which is wofully prevalent and is the latent cause of all similar outbreaks of crime." And after saying that "his state of mind, his manner of life and the murder and suicide were thoroughly pagan," the Herald very forcibly invokes the efforts of the school, the press and the pulpit in opposition to such pagan outbursts of crime. How much such efforts of the press as we have seen in the Times, in relation to this case, will have a tendency to prevent crimes of this sort, let every one judge.

A BAD PURPOSE.

A plot is said to be brewing in New York city for the purpose of destroying the wholesome efficiency of the excise law now in force in that city. The plan is concocted by the liquor dealers, to open all their doggeries on some specified Sunday, in defiance of the law, presenting so extensive and formidable an opposition that the police force will be unable to arrest the violators of the law and prevent the illegal sale of liquor.

The belief is expressed by lovers of law, order and justice, that the police force is sufficient to enforce the law, and that it will be sustained by the sympathy of the community, or that large portion of it which appreciates order and decency in the condition of the city on Sunday, and which has the true respect, characteristic of Americans, for the laws properly passed by the authorities of government. Intelligent citizens and all desiring the peace and prosperity of society and the perpetuity of freedom, will look with just detestation on such organized opposition to the law. The danger of society is increased greatly when organization is resorted to with success, to give assurance and efficiency to criminal designs. Numerous neighborhoods have been startled by the commission of deeds of robbery and bloodshed by organized bands. In a diabolical point of view, this plot for resisting the law, by large numbers of persons acting in concert for the express purpose, is calculated to produce similar alarm.

We hope this is not a practical consequence of the teaching that has lately been exhibited in a New York journal of great influence, which would shield from punishment conspirators and insurgents against government, provided their rebellion be extensive enough to transcend the proportions of a riot, and reach those of a war. Something like that idea seems to have suggested the organization of the doggeries in opposition to the law. The police force on the side of the law, could not be resisted by individuals. But if a big affair is made of it, and a long and strong front is presented, the law will prove a nullity, the victory of its opponents will be complete, and impunity will be secured by their numbers, organization and energy in wrong doing. Without particular concern about the excise law, we cannot but wish, as good citizens, that this plot may be frustrated. Every citizen who desires good for his country or safety for society, should set his face against organized opposition to the laws. We have had enough of that these six years past.

THE Chicago grain market continues to decline daily, with no prospect of anything in the future to produce recovery. From all parts of the country crop reports continue favorable—and the weather is perfectly splendid.

GENERAL LONGSTREET has written a second letter in reply to some strictures by a New Orleans paper on his first. In this he says:

I am well satisfied that order cannot be organized out of confusion, as long as the conflicting interests of two parties are to be subserved. The war was made upon Republican issues, and it seems to me fair that the settlement should be made accordingly.

The General says he does not intend to mix in politics, and should have nothing to say, did not the "unusual times call for practical advice."

THE ram Dunderburg has had a trial trip, as a prelude to crossing the ocean, there to be delivered to her purchaser, the French Emperor. A reading of the description which the papers give of the trip leaves on the mind the impression that the results were not eminently satisfactory, and that some things went wrong. We are assured, however, that it is believed that a few weeks will bring matters into a more satisfactory shape.

ONE of the witnesses for whom the prosecution in the case of Surratt have been waiting, is the lady who, it will be remembered, picked up a letter in a New York street car, in the fall of 1864, in which the assassination was proposed. She may possibly swear to seeing Surratt drop that letter. During his argument before the Court, on the motion to quash the jury, Mr. Pierrepont took occasion to say that the prosecution are very much in earnest in the case and intend bringing forward much evidence to aid in clearing up the mystery of the assassination conspiracy. It may be added in this connection that there is good reason for believing that this eminent lawyer has had a full and free conference with Mr. Seward and Mr. Stanbery, and has thoroughly informed himself as to the evidence in the hands of the prosecution before consenting to appear for the Government.

THE trade between California and China and Japan is speedily destined not only to be established on a firm basis, but to become of vast magnitude. The initial enterprise of the steamship Colorado has set this at rest, and in view of the results already attained, the Company are building in New York two magnificent steam vessels, called the Japan and America, which are intended for the new line between San Francisco and China. Their dimensions are as follows: Length of keel, 365 feet; width of beam, 50 feet; depth of hold, 31 feet 6 inches. We have recently described their sisters, the China and Great Republic, and need only state that they are identical in construction and fitting. It is on the Pacific coast where the tide of emigration will soon flow in. The next invasion will be by Orientals, who will swarm over our vast regions about to be opened up by the Pacific Railroad. There is a destiny in this which present plans will bring to consummation, which the world has yet little contemplated.

THAT Jefferson Davis should be the recipient of special attention and the favorite among the Canadian people is not at all strange. When he fell, none lamented more deeply than Englishmen. Some of them—the holders of Confederate bonds for instance—had special cause for lamentations. The representative of the lost cause finds a natural asylum in Canada, and if we are to believe the accounts, they are almost ready to try the rebellion over again. "Thus," says a Canada letter to a Baltimore paper. "He has been made to feel that, although in the land of strangers, he is in the midst of friends desirous to evince their respect for the man, and their sympathies for the victim of oppression and tyranny."

The writer says Davis's plans for the summer are undecided. He concludes as follows:

If he remains in Canada he may spend it at this little town of Niagara, where a pleasant Confederate society is springing up, where the bracing winds from the lake may go far to reinvigorate his enfeebled constitution, and where he will be accessible to friends from the South, and yet removed from the prying curiosity so characteristic of the Yankee.

General Grant and the Presidency.

The Cincinnati Gazette, referring to the alleged preference on the part of General Grant for General Sherman for the Presidency, remarks as follows:

This statement is to be taken with the usual allowance due to the New York Herald. This is not the way General Grant talks. He is known to be a candidate for the nomination of the Republican party for the Presidency, and of course he does not desire to transfer it to any other man, nor does he suppose that it would be offered to any man who was not fully committed to the principles of the Republican party. The mere fact of being a soldier, who as a representative of the patriotism and victories of the army, has been loaded with honors, does not create a title to the Presidency, for in fact every brave soldier has as good a claim. It merely makes distinction and availability. General Grant knows that if it were not the public conviction that there is a wide difference between him and General Sherman in political views and sympathies, he would not be thought of as the Republican candidate.

THE arrivals of emigrants at New York this year increases monthly. In January they numbered 7,541, in February 5,797, in March 18,825, in April 25,307, in May 35,426, and for the last twelve days of June 12,291. The gross arrival up to date is not quite equal to that of last year for the same time, but there is this difference, that after May last year the arrivals fell off rapidly, whereas this year the promise is that we have not yet reached our heaviest month, and that when the decrease begins it will be less marked, resulting in an increase of the whole number at the end of the year. This expectation is sustained by the promise of heavy crops with us, important reduction in the price of living, and continued demand for labor. The arrivals during the first twelve days of June last year were but 9,078, which shows 3,383 in favor of this month.

PERSONAL.

—The sculptor, Thompson, has modeled a statuette of Gen. Sedgwick, which, at the order of officers and men of the old sixth corps, is to be reproduced in colossal form, and erected in a place of honor at West Point. Mr. Thompson has discarded the traditional heroic style of costume, and gives us the soldier in his blouse and high-topped boots and slouched hat; in the uniform in which he moved amongst his men; in which he worked and fought and died; and thus the figure is human and life-like; while it does not lack dignity and commanding presence.

—Joseph E. Williams and Captain James H. Sumner, two colored men, are to hold a joint discussion on "the great issues of Conservatism and Radicalism," at the Capitol in Nashville, Tenn., on Tuesday. The challenge came from Williams. A division of time of one hour to each speaker, and fifteen minutes to reply has been agreed upon.

—A French correspondent of an English Roman journal says the condition of the Prince Imperial is such as to leave no hope of recovery. The poor child is a victim to scrofula of the most determined character, and part of the bone has already been removed and replaced by plates of gold in a recent operation. It is stated positively as the opinion of M. Nelaton that he cannot survive a second, and that his living to succeed to the throne is utterly improbable.

—At the ball given by Lord Cowley, in Paris, recently, the Empress Eugenie was in white and wore six rows of large diamonds round her neck. The same ornaments were festooned in her hair. In dress, tulle, especially white, was the striking feature; but all robes were differently trimmed, although with about the same materials and precious stones. If the truth must be said, says a correspondent, the dresses were made of nothing but trimming, and that mostly of leaves which entwined round the skirts and glistened all over with what is called a diamante preparation. It is crystal reduced to powder and adhered to either crape or other artificial leaves. The effect is lovely. Other robes were but foundations for jewels to shine on. Some were all lace, with very long trains. The prettiest were vaporous waves of the lightest blue haze.

—A pretty little Jewish prima donna in Brussels was courted by a young lawyer and finally married him in consideration of his embracing the Jewish persuasion. Such persuasion as she offered he was only too willing to embrace.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The American Magnesium company of Boston have lately invented a magnesium light for signaling at sea, which is visible at a distance of sixty-five miles. The price of the prepared magnesium for burning has decreased from $16 to $3 50 per ounce within a short time.

The Hartford Carpet company, whose mills at Tariffville were burned on Monday, had a total insurance on their property of $419,000, $60,000 on the buildings, $140,000 on the machinery, and $201,500 on the stock. The total loss to the insurance companies, however, is only $331,000, the remainder being upon buildings and stock saved.

The Pacific Railroad is just entering Colorado, three hundred and eighty miles from Omaha. The contractors are laying three miles of track per day, and are ready to lay six. The Indians are trying to run off the stock nightly. Stages run regularly to Denver.

In Burgundy, Champagne and French-Comte a great quantity of snails of all kinds are consumed or sent to Paris; and Professor Simmons mentions that there are now fifty restaurants and more than twelve hundred private tables in that city where snails are considered a delicacy by from eight thousand to ten thousand consumers; that the monthly consumption of this mollusk is estimated at half a million.

Among the questions of interest before the Attorney General is one arising under the Internal Revenue act, laying a tax of 10 per cent. on the notes of parties or institutions of all sorts circulating as money, which in this case involves a question whether certificates proposed to be issued by the State of Alabama are bills of credit, and as such prohibited by the Constitution of the United States.

To enforce the practice of vaccination a bill has been introduced into the British Parliament. Its provisions are very stringent. It is estimated that ten thousand people died of small-pox in Great Britain last year.

AT a Republican meeting in Richmond, on the evening of the 12th instant, to celebrate the union of the factions that have for sometime disturbed its counsels, Senator Wilson made a speech, in the course of which he said:

Senator Wilson, who was received with cheers, said he had not the time, nor was it necessary for him to say much. He had recently spoken to the people of the South, and those who cared to listen to him understood his views. He was there to congratulate them that the Republican party would certainly carry the State of Virginia. [Applause.] He wanted gentlemen to know it, that Virginia would elect an uncompromising Republican convention, elect a Republican Legislature, a Republican government and send Republican Senators to Congress. The Old Dominion will this year place herself beside New England, a great country of freedom, of progress and of liberal ideas. Congress, in its closing hours, provided for reconstruction, and put the ballot in the hands of five hundred thousand black men.

PENNSYLVANIA SUPREME COURT.—At the recent session of the Supreme Court, the following order was made relative to the return days of the next session of 1868:

First Monday of May, 1868—The counties of Lancaster, York and Adams.

Second Monday—Cumberland, Perry, Franklin, Fulton, Bedford and Somerset.

Third Monday—Dauphin, Lebanon, Center, Clinton, Mifflin, Juniata, Huntingdon and Blair.

Fourth Monday—Remanents and special appointments.

GOV. GEARY for several days past has been in Philadelphia visiting the State and other institutions. Wednesday evening the spacious parlors of the Lapierre House presented a beautiful and animated appearance, the occasion being a reception given by his Excellency, Governor John W. Geary, to his personal and political friends. Among the guests were Major-General George G. Meade and lady, and other well-known friends of the Governor, and the ceremonies were highly interesting and pleasant, though entirely devoid of any prearranged formality.

AS to crops in Canada it is almost too early to predict the result with certainty, and the lateness of the season is looked upon as unfavorable for all sorts of crops except grass. The same holds true to a great extent in New England, though a larger breadth of wheat has been sown than usual, and corn is not so far behind but a warm September will bring out a fair crop. Grass is unusually heavy, and is now beyond the contingency of a drought. The apple crop will probably be fair, but not extraordinary.

THE action of Chief Justice Chase, in ordering a jury list at Raleigh to be made out without regard to race or color, will have the sanction of the Union men of that section, for it is known that many of them personally appealed to him immediately after his arrival there, to make such an order. It is understood that he sets aside a previous panel of jurors in order to begin at the foundation.

IT is announced from an authoritative source that President Johnson has not encouraged any one to believe that he entertains the idea of removing General Sheridan. We are glad to know that for once the President has some respect for the expressed will of the people who elected him.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE.

Its icy hand falls alike upon youthful innocence and hoary-headed age. Some of the prominent symptoms are Cough, Expectorant, Shortness of Breath, Irritation about the Lungs and Chest, darting Pains in the Side and Back, Emaciation, and a general negative condition of the whole system.

THE mob "guy" Carlyle as he walks about London, because he is old and well-dressed. If he would only let fly a few of his robuster sentences at them, they would shun him as a madman. One sign that Rosa Boneur is not insane is that she does not paint so good pictures as formerly. Genius is to madness near allied, and hers seems to be failing her.—In a suit between a dentist in Paris and a swindling picture dealer, the latter set up as a defense that all dentists are notorious liars.—Fanny Kimball is writing about Shakspeare's Macbeth in the London McMillan magazine.—It is a great thing among literary, art and political circles in Paris to have an election of a member of the French academy. Two vacancies have just been filled, after long discussion and much caucusing, by the choice of Pere Gratry, a Roman priest of the most dogmatic school, and Jules Favre, the eloquent orator of the anti-government party in France.—Thiers, the historian, and bitter anti-Napoleonist, said another bright and bitter thing in the French assembly a few days ago. A fellow member was passing in review the successive ministers of the second empire. M. Thiers broke in with his usual brisk manner: "You forgot the two most important who will owe their reputation to the second empire." "Which two?" "Why, Count Cavour and Count Bismarck. What would they have been without Napoleon III.?"

A VALUABLE MILK FARM.—Mr. Ross Winans, of Baltimore, now seventy years of age, purchased, in 1861, a farm of about seven hundred acres, along the banks of the Patapsco river, and about six miles from Baltimore. His land cost him $50,000; he added buildings at a cost of $20,000; his fence cost him $3,000, and he manured it at an outlay of $67,000, making the total cost of the estate $140,000. During the year ending on the 1st of May last, his sales of milk amounted to $37,630 71; of cows and calves, in the same period, he sold $11,986 worth, and had fifteen or twenty more animals on hand than at the commencement of the year. He, however, purchased $9,098 worth of cows and heifers during the year. At the close of the year he had on hand two hundred and twenty tons of hay, and his total product of hay for the year was estimated at eighteen hundred tons—a great average per acre. His system of manuring tends to build up and nourish his land, and not to impoverish it. His milk is sold to the small grocers in Baltimore at thirty cents a gallon.

MESSRS. FAHNESTOCK & HOLTON:
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Gentlemen—This is to certify that I have been a sufferer with Chronic Diarrhœa for about eighteen months, and have tried several different remedies recommended for this class of disease, and have been treated by different Physicians, and they all failed to effect a cure. About four weeks ago I was recommended to try Mishler's Herb Bitters, and I bought one bottle and have used its contents; am happy to say that I feel myself entirely cured, and quite a different man. It has arrested the complaint, and effected, I think, a permanent cure. I must add that my case was so bad that I was prevented from attending Church for some time. I am now using the Bitters on my daughter for a disease of the blood, which arose from Diptheria, having caught a severe cold while suffering with Diptheria. You are at liberty to publish the above if you see proper.
Yours truly, H. WALTER.

The ...uthor has such a clear perception of his subject ...at he needs but to state the case to show on ...hich side is the right whose words or phrases ...e held as of doubtful propriety. This is a ...olume which should be in every American ...ousehold, whose members aspire to education ...refinement. It requires little study. A single ...ading would impress its contents on the ...ind of an ordinary student. A child of ten ...ay easily comprehend it; and few are the ...thors, or public speakers, who may not learn ...mething from its pages.

...HE NORMAL ELEMENTARY GEOGRAPHY: Embracing a brief Treatise on Mensuration and Trigonometry, designed for Academies, Seminaries, High Schools, Normal Schools, and Advanced Classes in Common Schools. By Edward Brooks, A. M. Sower, Barnes & Potts, Philadelphia. Davis, Clarke & Co., Pittsburgh.

...Professor Brooks handles his subject in a ...asterly manner. His explanations are so ...ucid, and advances so gradual, and in such ...ell-considered order, that a student of ord...ary capacity might master the contents of the ...olume without the aid of a teacher. As a ...ext-book, it is certainly well adapted to the ...use of schools.

THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT, by Charles Dickens, with original illustrations by S. Eytinge, Jr. Ticknor & Fields Boston. John W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

This is a pocket edition of Martin, with Tom Pinch and his organ, as a frontispiece. It is in convenient form for carrying to the country, or watering place, for a summer vacation. One who can appreciate Boz's sun pictures of life amongst the lowly, the pathos and tenderness, the cutting sarcasm and terrible truthfulness of his delineations of human virtue and human weakness, will find a sure antidote for "the blues," for at least one week, in this neat and compact volume.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—CANCER—The days of "brilliant operations" are no more. The discovery of Holloway's Ointment dispensed with the necessity of the knife, which frequently endangered the life of the patient. Thousands of females have been cured of cancer in the breast by the medicating action of the Ointment, and their lives spared to their families. The salve follows the cancer in its tortuous winding, and imperceptibly but thoroughly and painlessly eradicates it from the system. The Pills cleanse and purify the blood. Sold by all Druggists.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH, PA., (late Pittsburgh Trust Company,) Capital 500,000, paid in, with privilege to increase to $1,000,000.

The Pittsburgh Trust Company having organized under the Act to provide a National Currency, under the title of the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PITTSBURGH, would respectfully offer its services for the collection of Notes, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, &c.; receive money on deposit, and buy and sell Exchange on all parts of the country.

The success which has attended the Pittsburgh Trust Company since its organization in 1852, will, we believe, be a sufficient guarantee that business entrusted to the new organization will receive the same prompt attention.

Having a very extensive correspondence with Banks and Bankers throughout the country, we believe we can offer unusual facilities to those who do business with us.

The business will be conducted by the same officers and directors.

CITY MATTERS.

THE STATE FAIR.—The Harrisburg Telegraph says the report that the State Agricultural Fair will be held at Norristown is unfounded. It will be held in Pittsburgh.

CHILD RUN OVER.—A little girl was run over by a wagon in the Allegheny Diamond yesterday about noon, and very severely injured. It is feared she cannot recover.

TRUE BILLS FOUND.—The Grand Jury yesterday returned true bills in the O'Neill libel cases, and against young McClosky for manslaughter. The Grand Jury will probably conclude their labors early next week.

DROWNED.—On Thursday afternoon, a lad eight or nine years of age, named Swaggers, was drowned in the Beaver river, near North Bridgewater, by falling backwards out of a skiff. The body was recovered about an hour after the accident occurred.

TILL ROBBED.—Thursday evening about seven o'clock, some person entered the bar room of the Globe Exchange, in the Allegheny Diamond, during the temporary absence of the proprietor, William P. Allison, and stole from the till nine dollars in notes.

REV. A. K. BELL, D. D., will preach a sermon to-morrow evening to young men, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, in the Baptist Church, on Sandusky street, Allegheny. Services to commence at 7½ o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

FIRE ALARM TELEGRAPH.—The work of erecting the new fire alarm telegraph in Allegheny city is progressing very satisfactorily. A large number of the poles have already been raised, and the wires will be arranged during the coming week. The poles have been neatly painted and present a very neat appearance.

CHURCH DEDICATION.—St. Mary's Catholic Church, at Sharpsburg, will be dedicatd Sunday next, June 16. The ceremonies will commence at 10½ o'clock. An accommodation train will leave the Western Pennsylvania Railroad depot, Federal street, Allegheny city, at 10 o'clock for Sharpsburg, and return at 2½ P. M., for the city.

EXCITING SCULL RACE ON THE MONONGAHELA.—Thursday afternoon, between four and five o'clock, an exciting scull race took place on the Monongahela river, between John W. Culmer and Theodore Shephard, two aspirants for aquatic honors. The distance rowed was one mile—from the Pan Handle Railroad Bridge to Market street and return—and the prize a barrel of beer and a supper. The race was won by Culmer, who made the distance in less than twelve minutes.

UNITED STATES COURT AT WILLIAMSPORT.—The United States District Court will assemble at Williamsport on Monday, and on the succeeding week the U. S. Circuit Court will convene. Yesterday afternoon Judge McCandless and General Rowley, U. S. Marshal, left for that place; District Attorney Carnahan and S. C. McCandless, Esq., Clerk of the Court, will depart this morning. The business of the District Court will be confined to the trial of several parties indicted for counterfeiting, and qualifying the newly appointed Registers in Bankruptcy in the northern portion of the State. Judge Grier, who is at present in Williamsport, has been an invalid for some months, and will probably not be able to preside during the term of the Circuit Court.

NEW CHURCH EDIFICE.—The corner-stone was recently laid for a new and commodious Presbyterian Church about being erected in New Brighton. The services were of a very imposing and interesting nature, and an address was delivered by Rev. J. B. Bittinger, D.D., of Sewickley. The church will be a magnificent stone structure. The estimated cost of it will be about thirty thousand dollars. The main building will be an audience room, fifty-eight feet by ninety feet in the clear, with a gallery in the end and a tower on each front corner. Main tower one hundred and eighty-five feet high. A back building, across the main building, will contain, on the lower floor, the lecture room, thirty by sixty feet, with a vestibule for stair way. On the upper floor of this building will be the pastor's study, infant school room, library room, and one or two other useful rooms—the whole furnishing such accommodations as are very desirable for the churches work.

Pic-Nic at Rochester.

On Thursday morning a Sunday School party, together with their attendants, occupying four cars, arrived in Rochester, Beaver county, from Wheeling, and had a pic-nic on the grounds of the "Orphans' Home," with the children of that institution. The day was all that could be wished, and pleasure beamed in the eyes of all the juniors, at least, of the company. At three o'clock they repaired to the Lutheran church, where addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Beck and others. The singing, accompanied by the organ, was very fine, it being well known that the children of the Home excel in that branch. At five o'clock the excursionists marched in procession to the cars, the route being enlivened by the inspiring melody of a brass band. The occasion was a pleasant one, and will be long remembered by all the participants.

DIXMONT HOSPITAL.

Visit of the Pennsylvania State Medical Society to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane.

Yesterday afternoon about fifty of the delegates to the annual meeting of the State Medical Society of Pennsylvania, which has just closed, accompanied by their wives and daughters, and a large number of other guests, paid a visit to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane, at Dixmont, having been invited to do so by Joseph A. Reed, M. D., Superintendent and Physician of the institution. The company were provided special accommodations by Drs. Coffey, Gallaher and others of the Allegheny County Medical Society. Dixmont was reached about two o'clock. The day being unusually sultry the company greatly enjoyed the splendid atmosphere always pure and invigorating at Dixmont. They were cordially received by Dr. Reed and the officers of the institutions, among whom we noticed Vice President Isaac Jones, Esq., and William A. Herron, Esq., of the Board of Managers. The guests were shown through the institution and expressed themselves highly pleased with its admirable arrangements and the condition of the patients, whose number now exceeds two hundred. About four o'clock the company were invited to partake of a very liberal and beautifully prepared repast, which did credit to the taste of those who arranged it. Every one was promptly and politely served with a splendid variety of edibles, and the supply was so bountiful that had the company been twice as large, there would have then been "enough and to spare." Subsequently the guests organized a meeting by electing Dr. Alexander Stewart, of Cumberland county, Chairman, and Dr. Gallaher, Secretary. Dr. William B. Atkinson, of Philadelphia, moved that a committee of three be appointed to draft and report resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting in regard to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane. The motion was adopted, and the presiding officer appointed Dr. Andrew Nebinger, (chairman), Dr. James King, and Dr. W. B. Atkinson, as such committee, who immediately retired. After a brief absence the committee were announced and through Dr. Nebinger, of Philadelphia, submitted the following report:

WHEREAS, Having visited the Western Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane, at Dixmont, and having examined wards and general condition, and being from such examination profoundly impressed with the high degree of efficient management displayed in the conduct of this institution, and recognizing the vast importance of fostering it and kindred institutions, we feel it a duty and pleasure to commend it and them to the kind consideration and fostering care of the wealthy, and of the State Legislature; and, now, inasmuch as our visit to this Hospital has been made pleasant and profitable by the kindness and generous hospitality of the Managers, the Physician (Dr. Reed) and his accomplished lady, and the officers generally of the institution; therefore, be it

Resolved, That our thanks be, and they are hereby tendered to them.

The report of the committee was received, and the preamble and resolutions unanimously adopted by a rising vote. The meeting then adjourned. The guests were delightfully entertained until the hour for turning their faces homeward, when they bid a reluctant good-bye to Dr. and Mrs. Reed, and the officers of the hospital, and at seven o'clock P. M., safely alighted from the cars at Allegheny City.

THE COURTS.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT—Before Judge McCandless.

Yesterday morning a libel was filed by District Attorney Carnahan against a distillery and contents, located in Luzerne county, and a writ of monition directed to issue against Daniel Shovlin, the proprietor, returnable on the 29th inst. These proceedings were instituted owing to the neglect of Shovlin to comply with the provisions of the Internal Revenue laws.

BANKRUPTCY BRANCH.—E. S. Golden, Esq., filed a petition in involuntary bankruptcy against H. C. Pavitt, of Armstrong County, at the suit of Robert C. Levick, of Philadelphia. A rule was also granted on the Sheriff and Prothonotary of Armstrong County, to restrain them from paying over to H. C. Pavitt, any moneys belonging to him which they may have in their possession. The rule was made returnable on the 17th of July.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.—Before Judge Mellon.

Frank J. Guth was arraigned on an indictment for burglary. The defendant, who was formerly a police officer, was charged with having entered the residences of a number of citizens of Lawrenceville, and carrying away a large quantity of goods. He was arrested by Justice Jancey's police, and a search warrant being issued a number of the stolen articles were found in Guth's house. The case had not been concluded at adjournment.

TAKEN OVER.—Archibald Lawson, convicted of larceny, and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary, was taken to his new quarters yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Stable.

FALL OF A SCAFFOLDING.—A scaffolding used by stone masons in building the foundation of a new house on Smithfield street, between Fifth and Sixth streets, fell with a loud crash yesterday morning. A man by the name of Rafferty, who was at work below, was struck by the falling timbers, but fortunately escaped without serious injury.

CHURCH FESTIVALS.—A festival was held on Tuesday evening in the new building of Messrs. Darragh, in Rochester, Beaver county, for the benefit of the Episcopal Church of that place. The receipts amounted to one hundred and fifty dollars.

A festival was held on Thursday night in the Presbyterian Church, in North Bridgeport. The attendance was large, and amount sufficient to purchase carpet for the aisles of the church was realized.

ABORN'S MEDICAL AND SURGICAL OFFICE, No. 134 Smithfield street, will be opened on Wednesday next, for the reception of patients afflicted with diseases of the Eye, Ear, Head, Throat, organs of the chest, skin and all surgical diseases. The Great Sale of Valuable Property on Wylie Street, To-Day.

By referring to our advertising columns it will be seen that this afternoon, at two o'clock, Messrs. Smithson, Palmer & Co., the well-known auctioneers, will sell, on the premises, the valuable property located on the corner of High and Wylie streets. It was formerly occupied by the First German Evangelical Lutheran Congregation, whose old church and parsonage are still standing, and will be sold separately from the ground. The latter has been divided into five lots—all of them very desirable. There is no finer location in the city where a capitalist can invest his money with the certainty of a large gain. Property in that neighborhood is growing more and more valuable every day. We have no idea what the lots will bring, but the price will be cheap considering the amount they will shorly command. The terms of sale are said to be very liberal, and no doubt there will be a great deal of spirited bidding. The materials of the church and parsonage are valuable. Here is a rare chance for some enterprising builder. Our readers, we hope, will not forget that the sale takes place on the premises at two o'clock this afternoon.

Be on Your Guard.

It is a good thing that our's is an enlightened age. Were it not so the great mass of mankind might suffer untold miseries inflicted by those who only seek their confidence to coin money at the expense of man's health, comfort and domestic happiness. Worthless and dangerous stuffs are constantly palmed off as invaluable remedies for various diseases. To guard against these poisonous compounds every one should exercise great care. Remember that "all is not gold that glitters." So high-sounding titles of so-called medicines may be merely a name for a villianous mixture that is destructive to the health of every one who uses it. Let merit be the test of all things. This is the basis of a sound policy, for merit will always make itself appreciated. Its merit explains at once the unparalelled demand for Mishler's celebrated Herb Bitters, which has cured thousands at our very doors of scrofula, liver complaint, cholera, general debility, dyspepsia, etc. As a blood purifier and tonic, these Bitters are without a rival in the world. To be sure in obtaining Mishler's Bitters, ask for it, and take no other. Sold by all druggists. Fahnestock & Holton, No. 26 Market street, are the agents.

GENTLEMEN'S OUTFITS IN FURNISHING GOODS for summer wear can be furnished at the lowest cash prices, at H. Oppenheimer & Co.'s, No. 83 Wood street. Their stock is the largest in the city, and was selected with great care to meet the demands of this section. We hope our friends will not fail to call on this firm and examine their goods. It will well repay the visitor for his trouble.

WHAT IS IT?—A stranger would involuntarily ask the question, on seeing the crowd at Graham & Byrne's Fashionable Hat and Cap Emporium, No. 52 St. Clair street. The fact is there are no hatters in the city who can exhibit a finer stock or sell cheaper than Graham & Byrne. If our readers really care to buy to advantage, either for themselves or families, we say go by all means to Graham & Byrne's.

GO TO THE IRON CITY EMPORIUM, No. 74 Fifth street for base ball goods. Foul flags, of every style, belts of every description, score books of all sizes, spikes, regulation books, balls, bats, &c., the largest and best assortment in the city, at the cheapest prices, at Hogle & Chambers's Iron City Emporium, No. 74 Fifth street.

Deafness and its Cures.

There is no doubt in our mind that three-fourths of the cases of deafness or hard hearingness, are the result of carelessness or neglect to the first causes which induced them, and we have no doubt at the same time that many of them are readily curable if properly treated. We have known persons afflicted with deafness or difficulty of hearing for five, ten and fifteen years, who paid no more attention more attention to it than if it were a natural condition. They were acting no doubt, under that most pernicious of all advice, "letting it alone." Disease of whatever sort, is not able to get well under the let alone system. Its natural tendency will likely be to grow worse—under proper treatment it must grow better. The mysterious and intricate structure of the human ear is well calculated to make one hesitate before exploring its labyrinths and combating its diseases. Yet aural surgeons have been found, of late years, who have done much in investigating the diseases of the ear, and have gained renown in rendering a once difficult subject, if not plain and easy, at least sufficiently understood to make ear diseases amenable to rational and scientific treatment, and render most of them curable. There are hundreds of cases of partial deafness, and hard hearing that could be greatly ameliorated, and many of them cured, as may be seen by the two striking cures published herewith by Dr. Keyser, of this city:—

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in adding my testimony to that of others in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment of deafness. My son had been afflicted for five years with deafness, produced from scarlet fever. At times he could not hear at all; and could only understand as we would motion to him. His speech had also become affected. Having tried other remedies without receiving any benefit, I applied to Dr. Keyser, and under his treatment he has entirely recovered, and can now hear as well as ever he did.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year, I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to Dr. Keyser, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh—after having tried various medicines and Doctors, without any benefit. I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop.

"Her hair, down-gushing, in an armful flows,
And floods her ivory neck, and glitters as she goes."

The crown of a woman's glory is her hair. It has been the favorite theme of the poet in all ages. Without a beautiful and luxuriant head of hair, all other personal attractions go for nothing, and a bald or grey-headed young or middle-aged woman is unquestionably an object of aversion. "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" is unquestionably the finest article for the toilet ever discovered. It is a sure preventative to baldness and premature grey hair, and no lady or gentleman who properly values personal attractions should be without it.

ADDITIONAL EVIDENCE.—The Indian Herb Doctor publishes in another part of this morning's paper several new certificates from parties who have been cured by him, which is good evidence of his skill as a physician. We would advise the afflicted to call on him at once ere it is too late. The Doctor's office is No. 194 Liberty street.

THE BEST TONIC.—Caswell, Mack & Co.'s Combination of Iron, Phosphorated and Calisaya, known as Ferro—Phosphorated Elixer of Calisaya. The Iron restores color to the blood; the Phosphorus renews waste of the nerve tissue, and the Calisaya gives a natural, healthful tone to the digestive organs.

One pint contains the virtue of one ounce of Calisaya, and one teaspoonful a grain of Iron and Phosphorus.

A National Medicine.

One can hardly pick up a newspaper or turn a street corner now-a-days that he does not find, staring him in the face, the announcement that Prof. so-and-so has just discovered a medicine which is a panacea for all the evils that flesh is, or may be heir to. These "wonderful" discoveries usually have an existence of a few months, then disappear from public notice. The reason of their sudden extinguishment is apparent. They were humbugs. At the outset all medicinal preparations have an equal chance for success, as all are equally unknown; but the chaff is soon winnowed from the grain by the practical test which an unprejudiced public applies to all things. There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgment of the people for any length of time. One of the few which we have now in mind, and which has been a long time familiar to nearly every household in the land, is the celebrated HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Their almost universal sale and use, and their emphatic endorsement from all portions of the country, compel the admission that they must be a specific for the ailments for which they are recommended. Letters before us attest their efficacy in diseases of the throat, bowels and liver. In that truly terrible complaint, dyspepsia, they are regarded as a sure cure. In Pittsburgh, where these Bitters are manufactured, their sale for home use is immense. This fact alone speaks volumes in their favor.—Extract from the Muscatine Courier, Iowa, February 7, 1867.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

FRIDAY EVENING, June 14, 1867.

The business at the banks to-day so far as we could learn did not vary in amount from the usual average of the previous days of the present week. It is thought that a large amount of the paper offering cannot be considered strictly prime commercial paper, and therefore the heavy demand for money does not arise from activity in trade, but from a desire to carry forward indebtedness that the profits of a customary spring trade would have liquidated. But the average volume of the business that should have come was far beneath the expectations. There is really not much strictly new paper made now-a-days by parties whose signatures constitute it gilt edge, and what is made is discounted at the usual rates in bank. Many of this class are lenders of money, and supply in a quiet way a great portion of the means that purchases the paper offered on the outside market through the brokers, where they can make investments at from ten, twelve and fifteen per cent. There is, it is true, at this season of the year large amounts of money required in the purchase of wool and the piling of lumber. Our heaviest lumber dealers are laying in large supplies at prices that will justify the ventures, and wool is at such a figure that dealers consider safe for vigorous action.

—Governments were in good demand, and although they ruled high, it does not abate their activity. The new Five-Twenties are steadily on the march upward, and holders of the Seven-Thirties who did not effect an exchange some five or six weeks ago, as we advised them to do, will regret their tardiness. The quotations to-day in the New York market, as we learn from the report furnished to Messrs. McVay & Co., are as follows:

U. S. 6s 1881	112⅛
U. S. 5-20s, 1862	110
U. S. 5-20s, 1864	106⅜
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, May and November	107
U. S. 5-20s, 1865, January and July	109⅛
U. S. 10-40s	100⅛
December Compounds, 1864	117
August 7-30s	106⅜
June 7-30s	105⅝
July 7-30s	105⅝
Gold	137⅜

—James T. Brady & Co., corner of Fourth and Wood streets, quote United States securities in New York to-day as follows:

U. S. 6s 1881	112⅛
5-20s, 1862	110
" 1864	106⅜
" 1865	107
10-40s	100⅛
Consols	109⅛
August 7-30s	106⅜
June 7-30s	105⅝
July 7-30s	105⅝
December Compounds, 1864	117
Gold	137⅜
Silver	131⅛

—The temper of the railway share market at the New York Stock Exchange is reported as very firm, and prices are regarded pretty near the bottom. The bears are unable to further materially depress the quotations, and the bulls at present endeavoring to control this market are weak in capital and by no means remarkable for courage. They have several circumstances in their favor, nevertheless, the most important of which are the prospect of the abundant harvest and the low prices of most of the leading stocks compared with the quotations current last October. The following are the rates to-day up to noon:

Cleveland & Pittsburgh	76½
P., F. Wayne & Chicago	97½
Erie	60¼
Chicago & Northwestern	35¾
Chicago & Northwestern preferred	59½
Reading	107¼
New York Central	101⅛
Michigan Southern	68⅜

—In the quotation of the Citizens' National Bank, that appeared this morning, it should have read 62 offered and 63 asked. The large blocks of bank stock that have lately been put upon the market, attests the prevalent closeness of the money market, and were not these securities well established for their profitable earnings, they would not sustain such high prices.

—The earnings of the Erie Railway for the month of May, 1867, were..........$1,222,180 90
The earnings for May, 1866, were..........1,101,682 15
Increase..........$120,507 75

—The following statement of dividends paid in cash or stock by the seven Companies engaged in transporting Anthracite Coal from Pennsylvania mines to market we copy from an Easton paper:

	1863	1864	1865	1866
Del. Lack. and West R. R.	24	5	15	20
Del. and Hudson Canal	8½	36⅔	34	16
Penn. Coal Co. (R. R.)	8½	80	32	20
Lehigh Valley Railroad Co.	10	20	16	20
Lehigh Coal and Nav. Co.	6	6	10	10
Phila. and Reading Railroad	7	15	10	10
Schuylkill Navigation Co.	..	4*	6	6

*Only a preferred stock.

The three Companies first named deal in Coal, that is, they mine Coal, buy Coal from colliery operators, carry it to market, and sell it for account of the Corporation. The fifth in the list is a miner of coal on its own lands, and is a common carrier for others. The fourth, sixth and seventh are common carriers, pure and simple, their income being derived wholly from tolls and transportation charges.—N. Y. Times.

—A correspondent makes inquiries regarding the proper understanding of the final proviso of that section of the national bank act, which limits the liabilities of any one person or corporation to a national bank to ten per cent. of the capital stock of the same. We remark in reply that the exception made in favor of discounts of bona fide notes and bills of exchange, drawn against actually existing values, permits of very free action. A bank may loan to any extent upon notes and acceptances, given the borrowing party for property actually delivered, or a bank may buy of any party, without restriction as regards the amount, the business paper of any concern. The "law officers of the crown" have occasionally tried to popularize other ideas regarding this very clear statute.

—On Saturday last the United States Treasury held the largest amount of money ever held at one time since the organization of the Government—to wit: $180,000,000, of which $102,000,000 were gold, and $78,000,000 currency. This amount was reduced $10,000,000 by the maturing of the June compounds and interest, and on the 15th instant will be reduced $9,000,000 more by the interest on the June seven-thirties. The internal revenue receipts Monday were $876,785 98, and for the first ten days in June are $7,487,760 38, indicating that the estimate of $25,000,000 for June will be fully reached, as the income tax is now daily swelling the receipts.

—The Sub-Treasury is now converting August seven-thirty notes into five-twenties of the new issue of 1865 by allowing the interest on the former up to the 1st of July, and delivering bonds with the July coupon cut off.

—S. S. Bryan, Broker in Government, Railway and other Bonds, and Bank and Railway Stocks, &c., Apollo Building, Fourth street. Orders for the purchase and sale of stocks executed at the New York, Philadelphia, and Boston Stock Boards at the regular rates of commission current in those cities.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
FRIDAY EVENING, June 14, 1867.

There was no activity whatever in the general markets excepting flour, which is selling at last quotations in small lots, principally choice brands. Groceries continue dull.

The receipts of some of the leading articles of produce per river and railroad, since our last, were as follows: Flour 1,062 bbls; cheese 81 boxes; corn 1,502 sacks; rye 325 sacks; oats 105 sacks.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale store prices, unless otherwise stated:

APPLES—Choice are in demand at $10@11 ₱ bbl.

BUTTER—Packages of butter, in good order, may be quoted at 15@18c ₱ lb. The receipts are generally in such poor order that sometimes it is with great difficulty they are disposed of at above 12@14c ₱ lb.

BACON AND LARD, &c.—We quote packers' prices as follows: Canvassed S. C. Hams at 15½@16c; canvassed D. Beef, 23½@24c; Shoulders, 9½@9¾c; Rib Sides, 11½@11¾c, and Lard, 12¼@13c ₱ lb.

FLOUR—Market active without any decided change since our last report. We quote good spring brands at $11 50@12 00, and winter at $13 00@13 50 to $14 00 ₱ bbl.

GRAIN—We have no reported sales of wheat and consequently omit quotations.

OATS—Market rather firmer. Sales reported of 75 sacks, on the wharf, at 65c; 1 car, from store, at 66c and 175 bush at 67c ₱ bush.

BARLEY—Market dull. Small lots are occasionally disposed of at nominal figures.

CORN—There is nothing doing but as the river receipts are cut off on account of low water, holders are more firm. A lot of shelled, to arrive, is reported as sold at 72c ₱ bushel.

RYE—Sales reported of small lots on the wharf at $1 25 ₱ bush, and from wagon at $1 20@1 25 ₱ bush.

POTATOES—Sales of good Peachblows from store were made at $1 15 ₱ bush, or $3 90 ₱ bbl.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
SATURDAY, June 15, 1867.

BUSINESS—Yesterday, so far as relates to operations, was active. The amount of crude disposed of for 1868 delivery, was large. Speculation was active. The sellers at all events, must have an abiding faith in the supply of oil holding out, or they would not be so anxious to sell for future delivery. At the lowest estimate at least, one hundred thousand barrels have been disposed of for next year's delivery and at pretty low figures. The stock of oil on hand is not large. The refiners, however, are not in the market as purchasers, their supplies were laid in early in the spring; many of them have enough on hand to last until fall. The sales since our last were 17,700 barrels, as follows: 700 barrels bulk, on the spot, 40@43 gravity, at 7c. The following sales were made for 1868 delivery, the rates fixed being 12½c ₱ gallon, for bulk, buyers option; 2,000 barrels, bulk, B. O., 12½c; 10,000 barrels, do, same terms and conditions, and 5,000 barrels at 12½c, to be delivered at any time in 1868 the buyers choose to demand, at 12½c ₱ gal.

REFINED OIL.—The sales in lots amounted to 6,500 barrels bonded, Philadelphia delivery as follows: 500 barrels Standard White, July, at 24c; 500 barrels Standard White, August, 24c; 500 barrels do, same description, September, 24c; 500 barrels do, October, 24c. Also sales of 500 barrels Standard White, August, 24c; 500 barrels do., September, 24c. Sales of 3,000 barrels Standard White Philadelphia as follows: 1,000 barrels, October, 25½c; 1,000 barrels, November, 26½, and 1,000 barrels, December, 26½c ₱ gallon. Sales of 5,000 barrels, bonded prime light straw to white, immediate, Philadelphia delivery, at 19½c ₱ gallon.

Weekly Review of the Pittsburgh Pig Iron, Bloom, Bar Iron, Nail, Steel, Copper, Hardware, Lumber, Ale and other Markets.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
SATURDAY, June 15, 1867.

The iron market was devoid of activity during the week, transactions in the raw material being limited. The amount of sales fell considerably below those of last week, the purchases being confined to limited parcels to meet immediate wants. The spring trade has to a certain extent been a failure both in regard to volume and profit—operators being inclined to move cautiously. The stock of metal on hand is small but of certain descriptions, the market was nearly bare. Notwithstanding the restricted demand, holders were firm and not disposed to make concessions in order to effect sales.

Iron Bars and Nails are inactive and unchanged in prices. The Copper, Sheet, Tin and Glass markets continue dull and without any change since our last report. There is considerable doing in Lumber, from yards, at previous prices. The receipts per river have been heavy this season, but no more is looked for. The little afloat is selling at $18 00@25 00 ₱ M. Timber sells at 16@17½c ₱ cubic foot, according to quality. We have no change to note in the prices of any of the other markets coming under the weekly review. They are all generally very dull.

The market for Brazil continues very quiet, the demand, says the Commercial List, having fallen off, except for prime grades, which continue scarce. 500 bags Rio, per Contest, sold on terms we did not learn; and 306 do per Meteor, at 18c, gold. At Baltimore 1,500 bags, per Sjofroken, sold at 18c, gold, in bond; and 3,600 do, per Aquidneck, on terms not made public. The 2,600 bags Rio, per Carl Ludwig, reported sold here in our last, were taken on speculation. For other kinds the demand is also light, except for the good and better qualities, and even in these the market is light. We notice 350 bags Laguayra at 17½@18c gold; 683 Maracaibo and 117 Costa Rica on terms we did not learn. The stock of Rios and Santos in the country is 57,725 bags here, 25,000 at Baltimore, and 6,250 at Philadelphia—together 88,975 bags.

Elector	Phillips	Greensboro.

Departed.

Gallatin	Carlisle	Greensboro.
Elisha Bennett	Cox	Greensboro.
Chieftain	Hendrickson	Greensboro.
Fayette	Donaldson	Brownsville.
Elizabeth	Houghton	Elizabeth.
Leni Leoti	Hamilton	Parkersburg.
R. Moore	Kerr	Portsmouth.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—The weather yesterday was very warm. Both rivers are steadily declining. The pier marks on the Monongahela indicate about three feet eight inches. The metal marks at the foot of Wood street, four feet five inches—by giving both marks river men can draw their own inferences. Trade on the landing was dull, owing principally to the low water. The Leni Leoti came in from Parkersburg with a fair trip, and returned at noon with all the freight she could manage. The Silver Cloud No. 2 leaves this day positively, for Cairo and St. Louis. We have not learned the next boat in turn. The Robert Moore took her departure for Portsmouth on time; whether she will return or not depends on the water. Appearances indicate low water. A number of boats are on the way up. Their time of arrival is somewhat doubtful. The Belle is announced for Cincinnati this day. She is a good boat in every respect. The tonnage in port is small. The boats that left on Thursday passed through Glasshouse without experiencing any difficulty. The People's Line packet Elector has been thoroughly repaired, and is again on the line, forming a daily line to Brownsville and Greensboro. The mail line is still running a boat, morning and evening.

THE Parkersburg packet Leni Leoti left on time with a good trip.

THE Lorena, Capt. Sherman, passed Cincinnati on Wednesday for this city.

THE steamers Glasgow and Argosy were advertised to leave Cincinnati for this port on Friday.

THE Robert Moore for Portsmouth left with all the freight she wanted and a good number of passengers.

CAPT. HENRY DORHAM, a very clever gentleman, passed through Cincinnati on Thursday on his way to Steubenville to rusticate.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Shippers will please send down their bills of lading in time as the steamer Silver Cloud No. 2, Captain J. B. Conway, will positively leave this day for Cairo and St. Louis.

THE punctual packet, Belle, Capt. Laughrey, is announced to leave this day for Cincinnati. For speed, accommodations and attentive officers, this boat stands A No. 1. The first Clerk is Capt. J. W. Chambers, who will see that passengers are well cared for.

THE Louisville Inspectors relative to the collision which occurred last December between the United States and Lake Erie, near Jeffersonville, Indiana, have decided that the respective steamers did all in their power to prevent the collision, and that neither is to blame. Rather a strange, if not a pointed decision.

THE fine passenger steamer Silver Cloud No. 2, Captain J. B. Conway, takes her departure this day positively for Cairo and St. Louis. This boat has superior accommodations and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. The first Clerk is our old friend Captain Charles Mathews, an officer who stands at the head of his profession. Don't fail to call early if you wish to secure a stateroom.

NASHVILLE.—The Times of Tuesday says: Capt. Nat. Crew, Nat. Hopkins and Boney Haywood, marine representatives of the mouth of Smithland, are building a wharfboat at Brownsville. Capt. Brown Hodge and J. P. Webbare building one at Dyeusburg. Commodore Hughes and Bill Thompson are building for the Empire's old machinery at Paducah.

TOW BOAT SEIZED.—A Louisville dispatch of the 12th says: The tow boat Neville was seized by the United States Marshal to-day, under a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court transferring admiralty cases from States Courts. The suit is brought by the Kanawha Salt Company, to recover $6,000, the value of a barge of salt sunk near here by the Neville a short time ago.

THE following is the last paragraph of the Great Republic memoranda: Arrived at Cairo at 5:25 P. M., 3 days, 22 hours and 55 minutes out; made forty-seven freight and passenger landings; had 314 cabin and 416 deck passengers. Left St. Louis on the 13th, Cairo on the 14th instant. Return—Leave New Orleans 19th instant. All well. Everything fair and the country safe.

CINCINNATI.—The Enquirer on the situation says: Business was dull. Apparently there was less freight handled than on the day previous. Yesterday we gave the rates of freight prevailing at St. Louis. Upon inquiry as to the changes made here we find that, notwithstanding the papers have all had so much to say in regard to the rates at that point, those accepted at Cincinnati have been generally less.

LODGE, the Clerk of the Richmond, says that boat left New Orleans with the largest passenger trip of the season. Let us examine the figures. The Richmond had 531 cabin and 217 deck passengers; total 558 passengers. The Great Republic had 314 cabin, and 416 deck passengers; total 730. Difference in favor of the latter boat of 171 passengers. How are you Louisville Courier. Let us hear from you, unless the Richmond is becoming demoralized.

BOATS IN PORT at Cincinnati on Thursday.—Lawrence, Nightingale, Mary Ament, Wauhatia, Sherman, Emma Floyd, Anglo Saxon, Rowena, General Lytle, C. T. Dumont, Minneola, Starlight, J. H. Groesbeck, Ida Rees, Anna, Westmoreland, Coosa, St. Charles, General Buell, Annie Laurie, Lizzie Hopkins, Swallow, Ezra Porter, Shamrock, Silver Moon, Messenger, Potomac, Leonidas, St. James.

STEAMBOATS FINED.—The Collector of Customs fined the steamers Nightingale, Champion No. 7, Anna, Jas. Watson, Champion, and the two Newport ferry boats, three hundred and fifty dollars each for failing to renew their papers in time. The informer or Government detective in these cases is entitled to one-half the penalty. Our steamboat men are wanting their papers closely. We understand Captain Williamson Jr contemplates contesting the case of the Newport ferry-boats.

PRETTY HARD ON LOUISVILLE.—The Evansvillians are wide awake to the commercial interests of their city, and a proposition is now on foot to construct a first class boat to run in connection with the Mepham, from that port to New Orleans. The citizens are asked to subscribe $60,000 toward the project, and it is not improbable the money will be forthcoming. The Journal very wisely remarks:

"We hope the enterprise will be carried out, as there is no reason why we should be always dependent on Louisville and St. Louis boats for tonnage. When the fall trade begins, the Mepham will ply from this city to New Orleans, and we need another line steamer to form a weekly line."

A LITTLE ON THE ROMANTIC.—On a steamer which recently passed up the Montana was a young girl scarce eighteen, who goes to the distant land of gold to meet her affianced. Four years ago they parted in Germany, her lover coming to this country and seeking the gold regions of Montana. He was successful, and having accumulated enough riches to support a "frau," with the dearness, he recently telegraphed to "Faderland," and, leaving home, friends, comfort, everything, the faithful girl crossed the sea to a land of strangers, and pursuing her course in full faith that he waited her coming, she journeyed on, and perhaps ere this is safe at rest on the banks of the Montana.

FROM THE MOUNTAIN FLEET.—A letter from Captain Bryan to Agent Driller, of St. Louis, dated Sioux City, June 2, says: "We arrived here with the Evening Star to-day, and proceed upward in an hour. The Lexington is in port. The Paragon passed up yesterday. The Silver Lake three days ago, and the imperial will be up to-morrow. The river is in an awful condition and falling fast; we found four and a half feet scant above Omaha, and we lined and stayed on low even at fifty cents to Omaha and pay agencies. Wood has been overflowed, and the price is from six to seven dollars. Parties on the St. Johns have written back here from Berthold, that not over one out of ten boats will be able to reach Benton, and at last accounts from Swan Lake Bar, eight boats were there aground."

THE Cairo correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial furnishes the following: The Great Republic arrived at 7 P. M., Cairo time, yesterday, having left New Orleans June 6, at 6:30 P. M., New Orleans time. By her memoranda, which is inclosed, you will see that she gives New Orleans time of arrival here, which makes her time from port to port 3 days, 2 hours and 55 minutes. She claims also to have done an immense way passenger business, as having 314 cabin passengers and 416 deckers. The Richmond arrived here at 11:45 P. M., Cairo time, June 9, and allowing the same difference as the Republic claims, it would make her hour of arrival, by New Orleans time, 10:10 P. M. She left New Orleans June 5, at 6:30 P. M., making her time from port to port 4 days, 3 hours and 40 minutes. As both boats claim an immense way business, the question of speed is not settled, as one may have lost much more than the other.

HAYS, of the Louisville Democrat, is in a bad humor. Wednesday's paper has the following: The Richmond came in from New Orleans yesterday, and will return to-day. The Indiana, which boat has for several days been receiving freight and advertising to leave "turned over" her freight to the Richmond. However, she hasn't much. It is rumored that the Richmond and Great Republic are advertised to leave New Orleans together Thursday week, and it is supposed the Richmond is either in a hurry to catch the Republic "on the wing," or else to let the Republic catch her. However, time will tell. If they leave New Orleans together, there will be some coal burned, and no great "scratch" at running done either.

The Great Republic left New Orleans last trip twenty-four hours behind the Richmond, arriving at Cairo nineteen hours behind. She did a large way business.

THE New Orleans Times of Friday says the Great Republic left that port on Thursday evening with "flying colors and the brass band playing Dixie." What will the Pittsburgh Commercial say? Send her back to be "reconstructed."—Louisv. Courier.

The band on the Republic might have been better engaged, and left such things for the Richmond. Those are our sentiments. We don't like Northern dough faces, we care not whether they hail from Pittsburgh or Steubenville. The latter place can furnish enough to represent Ohio and Pennsylvania. Is the Courier answered?
